Lost Hunter Object of Southern Island's Biggest Manhunt

Object of biggest manhunt in South Vancouver Island history is city hunter Ronald Murray, 30, missing in dense, wooded area since 1 p.m. Saturday.

Posted at crossroads of logging road 10 miles north of Sooke, old soldier Charles L. Weaver of Otter Point, directed carloads of volunteers who sought to find missing hunter on Sunday. Ronald Murray has not been seen in 48 hours.

Wide Search For City Man Lost 2 Days

Ron Murray Missing On Hunting Trip

By PETE LOUDON

Trucksloads of troops and private cars filled with volunteer searchers continued to pour into the Muir River area nine miles west of Sooke this morning, seeking a city hunter now missing almost 48 hours.

It is the greatest search operation in the history of lower Vancouver Island. It is estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 men are plodding shoulder to shoulder through dense, rain-soaked thickets in search of Ronald Murray, 30, of 85 Crease Street. He was last seen by a hunting companion at 1 p.m. Saturday.

At one point during the morning, there was sudden hope that Murray was nearby. Three gunshots were heard at 11:30 in an area about 10 miles north of where the main search was being conducted. Constable P. Humphries led a group into the remote area but returned shortly after 1 this afternoon to announce the shots were fired by other searchers who had become separated from the main group.

Bloodhounds and an army mobile canteen have been moved into the desolate, canyon-split area. So far not a trace of the missing man has been found. Search is directed by RCMP and South Vancouver Island Rangers, who have been out since early Sunday morning and are still on the job.

The government can only guess whether the committee intends to use this accusation, made at a secret session of the committee in August, 1951, regardless of how it answers the committee's renewed requests for permission to question Gouzenko.

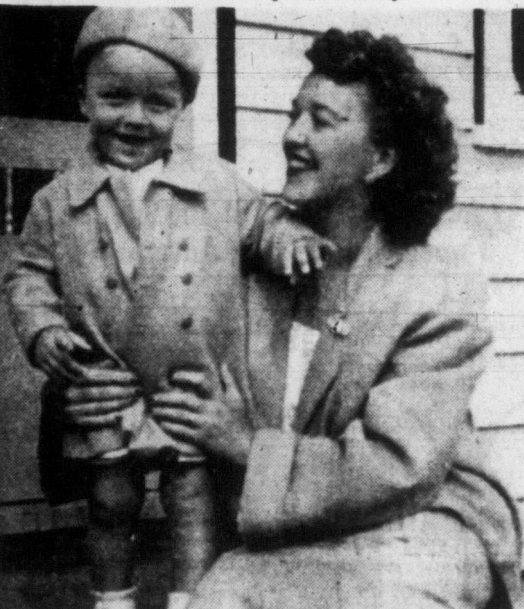

"All evidence points to the conclusion, however, that the committee... is using the Gouzenko affair as a build-up to a fantastic and sordid smear of Mr. Pearson."

Mr. Langley himself, after learning what a furor his action had caused, insisted it was a personal matter, although he had taken the extraordinary course of issuing a signed press release. This announced that he had issued the writ and was also demanding an investigation into a fire that burned down the house concerned in the lawsuit.

In his lawsuit Mr. Langley is claiming damages for what he calls "negligence" by Mr. Gregory's law firm in a transaction which took place over four years ago concerning the old Pemberton estate.

He personally delivered the writ to Mr. Gregory after the courthouse closed for business Friday. Then he issued the press statement.

Record Vote Forecast Despite Storm Threat

Victorians Mark Ballots Tomorrow
By GORDON FORBES
Times Legislative Reporter

Victorians will go to the polls Tuesday amid rain and wind but observers are still predicting a record turnout of electors for a by-election.

The weatherman today forecast gale-force winds and rain tonight, rain tomorrow morning and a "few showers" in the afternoon.

"It'll be unsettled weather—just about as unsettled as the election campaign."

The by-election is being held in an effort to find a seat for Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, who was defeated in Oak Bay by Liberal P. A. Gibbs in June. Percy Wright, elected Social Credit MLA last June, resigned to allow the minister to contest the seat.

The biggest factor in drawing the voters out, it is expected, has been the campaign itself.

It's been a scorcher—by-election standards—and the heat has been kindled in many ways.

The campaign started out quietly and became more robust as candidates roared each other, party leaders hurled charges back and forth with great abandon.

The ugly word "falsehood" became commonplace, candidates compared war records, newspapers were accused of story-slanting and distortion, and radio blasted forth hourly with charges and counter-charges.

Old-timers, although deploring the mud-slinging, said the campaign smacked of some of the electioneering of the early days in B.C., when an election was the signal for the no-holds barred type of p.liticking.

The campaign will wind up tonight at Royal Theatre with a good, old-fashioned, all-candidate debate on the government's record.

George Wheaton, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will be chairman.

A packed house is anticipated in the 1,500-seat theatre. Manager Cliff Denham said the doors will open at 7 p.m. and will be closed as soon as the regulation seating is full.

Advance voting was light. Only 129 persons voted at the YMCA Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

BY-ELECTION FACTS

Voting—From 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Tuesday.
Where to Vote—34 polling stations in schools and halls throughout city.

Eligible Voters—32,349.
Candidates—Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, Social Credit; Alfred Matthews, CCF; George F. Gregory, Liberal; Deane Finlayson, Progressive-Conservative; Mrs. Doris Blakey, Labor-Progressive Party (Communist).

Ballot-Marking—An "X" should be marked opposite choice; not "1, 2, 3" as in previous provincial elections.
Reason for By-Election—Resignation of Percy Wright, elected Social Credit MLA last June, to allow Mr. Gunderson to contest seat.

Queen, Duke Leave On Six-Month Tour

Royal Couple Winging Across Atlantic On Historic Trip; Newfoundland First Stop

LONDON (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh departed on their globe-circling tour of 14 Commonwealth countries at 9 o'clock (1 p.m. PST), tonight, cheered on by hundreds of spectators gathered at London airport.

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth II gave her children a mother's last-minute advice today as Buckingham Palace bustled with final preparations for her departure tonight on the longest tour ever made by a ruling sovereign in history.

For six months, the beautiful 37-year-old Queen and her husband, the handsome Duke of Edinburgh, will inspect the far-flung Empire on which the sun never sets.

They will cover more than 50,000 miles on the royal tour, open six parliaments, attend 50 state balls, dinners and other functions and hold 135 receptions.

Elizabeth and her husband have spent all of their spare time with their children—Princess Anne, 3, and Prince Charles, the sturdy five-year-old who will some day be king—the past few days.

It was estimated, too, that 10,000,000 Britishers would watch the Queen's journey to the airport on their television screens.

Tightest security conditions will prevail through the Queen's long tour. Special police will watch the British Overseas Airways stratospheric "Canopus" which will carry the couple to Newfoundland on the first Atlantic flight by a British sovereign.

Five warships—the destroyers Agincourt, Aisne, Corunna and Barrosa and the Canadian frigate Micmac—will be stationed along the route from London to Gander to watch the royal crossing.

In addition, two Canadian Lancasters will escort the Canopus on the last 900 miles of the trans-Atlantic flight.

The timetable called for the Canopus to take off at 8:45 p.m. landing at Gander for refueling at 3:45 a.m. local time and then proceeding to Bermuda, arriving at 10 a.m.

On Wednesday the royal couple will go to Jamaica and will prevail through the Queen's long tour. Special police will

Ottawa Blackmailed Over Gouzenko—Star

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says in a newspaper story from Ottawa that the Canadian government meets today to decide whether Igor Gouzenko should be questioned by the U.S. Senate internal security committee "in the full knowledge that it (the government) is being blackmailed."

"It is recognized here that within a matter of days or weeks the Canadian secretary of state for external affairs, Hon. Lester B. Pearson, may be named by the U.S. committee as one of three Canadians accused of supplying information to a Communist spy ring during the latter part of the war."

The government can only guess whether the committee intends to use this accusation, made at a secret session of the committee in August, 1951, regardless of how it answers the committee's renewed requests for permission to question Gouzenko.

"All evidence points to the conclusion, however, that the committee... is using the Gouzenko affair as a build-up to a fantastic and sordid smear of Mr. Pearson."

Gen. Peakes told a reporter later that apparently Miss Burton returned to the RCAF of her own accord. He said he believed she had arrived at Victoria by plane from California.

He said he could throw no light on where she had been for the last year and a half and details were not immediately available from the RCAF.

Miss Burton vanished from the RCAF station at Aymer, Ont., at Easter in 1952. She was not heard from until she arrived back at Victoria during the week-end.

Isobel Burton Questioned by RCAF Police

LAW Isobel Burton of the RCAF, who vanished without trace April 15, 1952, has turned up safely at Victoria and is being questioned by RCAF police, it was disclosed today.

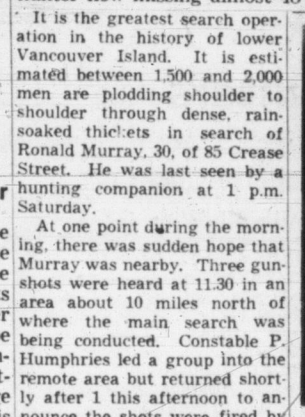

The disclosure came when Maj.-Gen. G. R. Peakes, VC, PC, Esquimalt-Saanich, arose in the Commons in Ottawa to express appreciation "for the thorough and prolonged endeavors of both service and civilian police which had resulted in the recovery of this missing person."

The RCAF confirmed that Miss Burton, 28, had returned to the RCAF station at Patricia Bay, B.C.

Invite Russia To Korea Talks, Reds Told

U.S. Envoy Challenges Communists To Have Russia as Co-Belligerent

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — American Envoy Arthur H. Dean challenged the Communists today to invite Russia to the Korean peace conference as a co-belligerent in the Korean war.

"We want the U.S.S.R. there as a full participant with full responsibility," Dean told Red diplomats.

Dean issued his challenge in the straw and mud negotiation hut as an answer to the Communist insistence that Asian neutrals and the Soviets offer their "good offices" to settling the Korean problem.

Red Chinese and North Korean negotiations have emphatically defended Russia's neutrality in the Korean war, but Dean took a different view.

"Of course the U.S.S.R. would be on your side as the participant," the American diplomat told his Red counterparts.

Dean said Russia should be seated under the provisions of paragraph 60 of the armistice agreement, which limits conference membership to nations which fought in Korea.

"I again urge you to agree to the holding of the conference as provided in paragraph 60 plus the addition of the U.S.S.R. to your side," Dean said.

The UN envoy accused the Reds of breaking "solemn promises" by now denouncing the Allies "for wishing to carry out our obligation under paragraph 60."

Dean is bound by a UN General Assembly resolution of Aug. 28 to limit the conference to actual Korean war-belligerents, but he has hinted he might welcome neutral nations if they were not given power to make decisions.

Russia, however, was not a neutral in the Korean fighting, Dean has insisted.

DURING GREAT FALL HUNT

Polio Stalks Eskimo Hunters

THE PAS, Man. (CP) — The fight against a polio outbreak which stalked a band of Eskimos during their great fall hunt was described here by an Indian health service nurse on her return from the Northwest Territories.

Mrs. Joan Edwards brought out the first news of the sickness, which she said struck 15 of the village's 50 inhabitants, and took three lives before medical aid arrived.

In three days she and Dr. E. Johnson of Pine Falls, Man., inoculated the entire village with Mrs. Edwards said all the men were well clad but the women were in rags.

Millwall Wins in Cup Soccer Replay

LONDON (Reuters) — Millwall today defeated Colchester United 4-0 in a replay of their game in the first round of the Football Association Cup. They tied 1-1 Saturday.

Draw for the second round will be made Tuesday.

Cobalt, a strategic metal, derives its name from kobold, which means an evil or mischievous spirit.

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta command of the Canadian Legion announced today that it will hold a one-month campaign starting January 4 to raise $100,000 in aid of polio treatment and research.

In Alberta and Quebec the legion commands are the provincial chapters for the Canadian Foundation for Polio-myelitis.

The fund campaign will be the largest for a single purpose undertaken by the legion in Alberta.

gamma globulin. The igloos and the caribou-hide tents in which the Eskimos live were their clinic.

Mrs. Edwards arrived here Saturday for a rest before returning to Pine Falls.

The settlement is at Maguse River, approximately 240 miles north of the Hudson Bay port of Churchill, Man. The doctor-nurse team traveled to Churchill by rail and then by plane.

They arrived at the village to find most of the Eskimos of the band known as the "padleimut" had moved north for caribou, the bulk of their winter food.

Another 25 miles brought them to the rest of the band.

One young Eskimo boy was evacuated with the party to be flown to Winnipeg for further treatment.

MOSSADEGH CHANGES MIND; WILL SPEAK

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Ex-premier Mohammed Mossadegh said today he had changed his mind and would speak in his own defense. He added he would keep on speaking until the court-martial trying him on treason charges gags him.

In an interview the ex-dictator declared: "I will go on speaking as long as they let me. If they give me a month, then I will speak a month."

Reminded that he earlier had told the court that he would refuse to speak in his own defense, Mossadegh grinned and said:

"That's only what I said." Mossadegh said he still was uncertain whether he will call any witnesses.

Strike-Bound Paper Damaged by Bomb

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — The Waukegan News-Sun building was bombed Friday night causing an estimated $100 damage.

Twenty-eight AFL printers, all members of the International Typographical Union, have been on strike at the newspaper since January 12, 1952. The newspaper has continued to publish, however.

Chief of detectives John Brake said the blast was caused by exploding powder or a stick of dynamite placed in an empty fuel oil tube at the rear of the building.

The printers' strike was called to support ITU demands for a contract with the newspaper.

Royal Winter Fair Held Best in History

England Wins International Team Trophy At Horse Show; Canada, Ireland Tie Third

TORONTO (CP) — The Royal Agricultural Winter Fair is over and officials say its 25th anniversary run was probably the best in its history.

A colorful ceremony climaxing the horse show Saturday night officially ended the eight-day fair which drew livestock and farm product exhibits from many parts of the country, attracted international competitors to its horse show, and provided city and rural dwellers with a show window of Canada's agricultural progress.

"Agricultural Minister Gardiner, speaking during the brief closing ceremony, said Canadians owe much of their ability as producers of top farm products to skills brought from other countries. Even the folk dancing at the centre of the show ring had been brought from the countries in which Canadians had their roots.

A butter statue of Mr. Gardiner was displayed by Ontario's 100,000 milk and cream producers as one of the Coliseum attractions.

England won the international team trophy at the horse show for the first time since establishment of the competition in 1925. Team members were Lt.

WHY I ASK YOUR VOTE

I am not contesting the Victoria seat simply for the sake of running. A critical need in the B.C. government today is a strong opposition, something we do not have now.

A strong opposition is required in any government, if the democratic process is to be preserved, no matter what the party in power, or how well-intentioned it is.

This fact was accented by the Social Credit government during the recent session. There was a clear-cut tendency toward the pressure-type of administration. Legislation of great importance to the welfare of the people and the economy of the province was given little or no consideration or proper examination by all members of the House.

This ramrod technique must be halted before British Columbians are saddled with a dictatorial form of government masquerading as a democratic regime.

It can only be stopped by a strong, fighting opposition. As long as this need exists I will continue to offer myself for public service . . . win, lose or draw.

Frachon To Be Charged With High Crimes

French Labor Leader Arrested Sunday

PARIS (UP) — Benoit Frachon, veteran secretary-general of the Communist-dominated General Labor Federation (GGL), was to be charged today with high crimes against the nation.

Appearing before Judge Francois Michel at the Reuilly military prison, Frachon was accused of "demoralizing the French army and endangering the security of the state."

Frachon, 61, was arrested on Sunday night when he appeared in public to deliver a speech. It was his first appearance since a warrant was issued for him last March.

A force of 1,000 policemen and 250 detectives surrounded CGT headquarters in suburban Belleville when they were notified Frachon would be present.

Frachon finished his speech, and was arrested when he tried to sneak through the police cordon. He offered no resistance.

The man who has switched France's many labor crises on and off from an underground hideout, Frachon had been playing a grim game of hide and seek with police since he disappeared last March 24.

TOOK RISKS
He blithely took many risks, including the contribution of almost regular articles on trade union and political problems to the official Communist party newspaper L'Humanite and other party publications.

The police search for him started in March after a series of raids on party headquarters in October, 1952, turned up a mass of evidence that the top French Communists were plotting against the state.

Frachon and five leading deputies were wanted after these raids.

The National Assembly recently rejected the government's demand that it lift parliamentary immunity from the five deputies so they could stand trial.

But Frachon is not protected by parliamentary immunity and therefore is subject to the full penalty of the law if convicted.

3 Americans To Be Tried In Peiping

HONG KONG (UP) — Three Americans seized by the Communists last March while sailing to Portuguese Macau have been transferred to a Peiping prison and will go on trial soon for espionage, it was reported today.

The usually reliable Chinese language newspaper Wah Kiu said Richard Applegate, National Broadcasting Company correspondent and former United Press reporter; Don Dixon, International News Service correspondent, and American merchant Capt. Ben Krasner only recently were taken to Peiping from Canton.

They will be tried by a joint court composed of public security forces and a people's court, the newspaper said.

The newspaper said Applegate's yacht, on which the three men were traveling when the Communists seized them, now has been taken to Whampoa, a seaport near Canton.

State department officials in Washington have feared that the Chinese Communists are trying to force the three men into signing confessions that they engaged in espionage.

In the past the Communists have held Americans until they signed false confessions.

Pair Crash Piper Cub in Field After 'Peekaboo' Race Through Iron Curtain

REGENSBURG, Germany (UP)—Two Czechs who sputtered across the Iron Curtain in a tiny plane played peekaboo in a fog blanket with Communist Mig-15 pursuers, witnesses of their crash-landing disclosed today.

Zdenek Volf, 23, the pilot, and Jiri Wertheim, 24, credited the fog patches with concealing them from the Migs which were alerted when their little Piper Cub first took off from an airfield near Prague.

Rifle fire from alerted Red border guards missed the 60-mile-an-hour puddle-jumper as it crossed into the American zone of Germany after a two and one-half-hour flight to freedom. Out of gas, the plane plopped into a potato patch near Pfarrkirchen yesterday.

The smiling Czechs applied for political asylum and U.S. intelligence agents kept them under wraps.

But two German brothers, Ludwig Reiterberger, 36, and his brother, Johann, 33, were near and reached the plane as soon as it landed.

The Czechs told them they felt certain they would have been shot down if the jet fighters had been radar-equipped. Apparently they were not.

According to the two Germans, the escapees hedge-hopped the single-engine plane southwest across Czechoslovakia. Occasionally the fog blanket would lift and they could see Migs criss-crossing the sky searching for them.

Pfarrkirchen is in Bavaria, 40 miles southwest of the Iron Curtain near the point where West Germany, Czechoslovakia and Austria meet.

The army identified the youths as Zdenek Volf, 23, the pilot, and Jiri Wertheim, 24.

Their escape was the fourth successful flight to the west this year by anti-Communist Czechs.

Tear Gas Breaks Armed Siege

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 73-year-old man who held five police officers at bay for 90 minutes Saturday is in custody today charged with vagrancy. A mental examination has been ordered for him.

Barricaded in his room at the Stratford Hotel, the elderly man, armed with a .22 automatic, threatened to kill anyone who came near.

Hotel janitor Ed Bengley had looked in the second floor window from the fire escape to see what the disturbance was about. He was threatened with death.

In answer to his call for police, three detectives and two uniform constables arrived.

The police rapped on the man's door and ordered him to open it, and failing to get an answer, threw a tear gas bomb through the window into the room.

Seconds later, three shots were fired through the room door into the hall.

A few minutes later the tear gas drove the occupant to the fire escape, where police succeeded in talking him into throwing down his pistol. He had 16 rounds of live ammunition.

Harnessed Light Beams Bring Safety to Victoria Motorists

Automotive servicing engineers have now "harnessed" light beams to bring motorists safer, more economical driving. The John Bean Visualiner projects a "picture" of an automobile's reflected optical light and predetermined steering geometry.

The device can handle any vehicle. The machine magnifies readings seven to fourteen times on the screen, making them micro-accurate. The greatly enlarged readings simplify corrections, as the operator can see the effects of the adjustments as he makes them.

A wheel that is even a fraction of an inch out of line reveals itself instantly, so that both the owner and the serviceman can tell why the car shimmies, why tires wear excessively, and why the car is fatiguing to drive.

The Visualiner was recently installed at National Motors, 819 Yates Street, and promises to be one of the greatest boons to safe, economical driving Victoria has ever known.

In an interview, Logan Mayhew, owner of National Motors, said, "One of the reasons we installed this machine is that we don't want to gamble with motorists' lives. We realized that all too many accidents stem from faulty and difficult steering. It's expensive to motorists to have their wheels out of line, too, because this causes overly rapid wear on the king-pins and steering knuckles of the car, as well as greatly shortening tire life. We invite all Victorians to come down and see for themselves how this magic eye works."

Mr. Mayhew went on to say that, over a period of weeks, the front wheels of a car take tremendous punishment from curbs and pot-holes, resulting in their gradually becoming out of line. He advised motorists to have their alignment checked regularly in the interests of economy and their safety.

"If you'll pardon my becoming commercial for a moment," he continued, "I'd like to add that the Visualiner is the least expensive way of adjusting front ends to exact alignment that there is; since it does the job so fast, labor charges are only a fraction of what they were with older methods. It is now possible, therefore, for all motorists to avail themselves of this safety and economy service."

AGED IN SAND

VENZURA, Calif. (UP) — Jeffrey Berbestrom, nine, made a discovery yesterday that may lead to a treasure hunt on Rincon Beach.

Jeffrey discovered a bottle of Canadian whisky in the sand. It apparently was bottled in Vancouver, B.C., in 1931. His father, R. P. Berbestrom, quickly found seven more.

Authorities believe the "treasure" was a cache from bootlegging days.

Japanese Admits Killing 15 Women

YONEZAWA, Japan (Reuters)—Police stated today that Genzo Kurita, 27, a traveling peddler, has confessed to murdering 15 women, most of them prostitutes, since 1946.

Kurita, already sentenced to death for the brutal sex murder of two women last year in Chiba, north of Tokyo, is awaiting trial on charges of raping and murdering a 24-year-old girl, her 63-year-old mother and a 17-year-old girl, also in Chiba. Last week he told police he had beaten a woman to death and buried the body after making love to her in a forest. He went to the scene of the crime with police, who recovered the remains.

Police said other murders he had admitted were being investigated. Twelve bodies already have been recovered.

An army spokesman said investigators had found no clues to what the army termed a "brutal, vicious murder" and that it was holding no suspects.

Colonel's Daughter Slain; Army Investigators Stumped

SAGAMIHARA, Japan (AP)—United States Army investigators said today they were stumped in the vicious slaying of the nine-year-old daughter of a U.S. colonel.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday for Susan Rothschild, whose gaggled body was found in a drainage ditch shortly after dark Saturday by her father, Col. Jacques H. Rothschild.

Her face and neck had numerous bruises and scratches, army doctors reported after an autopsy, but "there was no evidence of rape or attempted rape."

The Luxury of Bickering

WRITING FROM PARIS TO THE New York Times, Mr. C. L. Sulzberger, a correspondent of long experience there, reports that "the luxury of international bickering on emotional issues has been resumed."

It has been resumed everywhere, not least in the United States, for an obvious reason—the heat of Russian aggression, for the moment, is off. The danger of Russian attack apparently being removed, the free peoples fall to quarrelling among themselves.

That, rather than an early Russian attack, clearly is the free world's immediate danger and is reflected in many points of friction.

In Europe the project of the European Defense Community, on which all Western plans of defense are based, is held up indefinitely in the confusion of French politics. The frail growth of Italian democracy is imperilled by communism on one side and neo-fascism on the other. An upheaval in Trieste has been averted by a hair's breadth. The Saar problem, dividing Germany and France, remains unsettled, all the earlier negotiations suspended. And throughout the continent, disguised by the speeches of statesmen but well known to every traveler, a dangerous tide of anti-Americanism is quietly in flow.

In Asia the United States attempts to rearm Japan but finds the Japanese taxpayers unwilling to bear this burden. While Korea may be settling into some kind of uneasy truce, the war in Indo-China continues. The relations between India and neighboring Pakistan are aggravated by the formation of a Pakistan Republic within the Commonwealth, which, built mainly on the Mohammedan religion, is thought to endanger the religion of the northern Hindus.

But it cannot be said that such tensions grip only the poorer nations of the grand alliance. They also operate at its centre, in the United States. Largely for partisan reasons, and without much thought of the larger consequences, the American people are being bitterly divided on issues which hardly touch the real problems of the day—a quarrel about the past, about the policies of the Truman Government, when the policies of its successor, in most fields, have yet to be devised.

No doubt Russia's latest tactics of avoiding an explosion but making no settlement are mainly compelled by its own internal troubles, as Sir Winston Churchill suggests. The Russians, however, certainly expect an extra dividend abroad, the dividend which Marx and Stalin promised when they said that the non-communist states inevitably would destroy themselves, if left alone.

Marx misjudged rather comically the whole trend of modern society. Stalin entirely miscalculated the West, most notably in his Korean war. Dictators have never understood democracy and often have paid for their mistake with their peoples' ruin and their own lives.

Nevertheless, the free world now enters a situation which it has never faced before, when its unity, built by an outward threat, is endangered because the threat is withdrawn, perhaps temporarily, when the luxury of bickering is resumed and united strength seems less important.

The free world will forget at its peril the lesson of recent years. It is that because the West united and built up its defensive strength, and for no other reason, Russia paused in its conquests, just this side of world war. If the dam thus erected is allowed to collapse piecemeal through the quarrels of its builders the ultimate flood will follow in due time. That is Russia's hope.

The Boomerang

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER AP- parently regrets already the bitter division which the Dexter White affair has produced in American society. He says he hopes the present angry debate will be over long before the Congressional elections next autumn. Many of his followers, the so-called practical politicians, intend on the other hand to make a leading election issue of the charge that the Truman Government was soft on communism.

Probably Mr. Eisenhower suspects that the attack on Mr. Truman will prove a boomerang dangerous to his basic policies. It is not to be supposed that the Democratic party will take the communist allegation lying down—and the Democrats in the Congress are essential to the President if he is to secure approval for his program. That was proved last spring when some of his most vital proposals were rejected by a majority of his own followers and only succeeded with the full support of the opposition.

The President may not be able to count on such bi-partisan Democrat support any longer. Smarting from what they consider an outrageous smear, some of the Democrats in the Congress say that from now on they will act like an opposition, punish the Government and hamstring its policies.

This would be unfortunate, not so much for the Republicans as for the American people and for the peoples of other free nations who depend inescapably on the policies of the United States. It is to be hoped that tempers will cool before the practical decisions of the next Congressional session have to be faced, that issues will be decided on their merits and not settled by emotion and revenge.

But if the President finds the Congress (where he controls no real majority) in a non-co-operative mood he will have no one to blame but himself, because he authorized the attack on Mr. Truman for obvious partisan purposes. He appears now to deprecate it. He has said publicly that he has complete faith in Mr. Truman's honor and loyalty. He regrets that Mr. Truman was subpoenaed by a Congressional committee. He hopes that the present agitation will soon pass. It is easy to start such quarrels, not so easy to end them, and they have a habit of back-firing on their instigators.

The Yellowknife Spirit

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T., HAS joined the ranks of communities in Canada which exercise local self-government through their own council. This month the thriving settlement elected officials to various posts and has set up municipal house-keeping along customary lines.

The event is an important indication of development in that part of the country, a symbol of civic consciousness and a landmark in the advancement of the far northern region.

Yellowknife may be expected to learn many things in self-government from the experience of the next few months and years. But it has an important lesson to teach many of the older and perhaps more tired cities of this country. Reports of the election carried by The Canadian Press state: "A 13-man contest for the seven council vacancies resulted in a heavy vote."

Perhaps the novelty of the occasion spurred residents to exercise the franchise. Perhaps there were lively issues to draw them to the polls. Whatever the cause, Yellowknife people did turn out in numbers large by comparison to the citizens entitled to vote.

That is a point which many cities and municipalities should take to heart in the next few weeks. Their people will have the chance to name councils before the end of the year. A little of the Yellowknife spirit would be highly appreciated by those who respect the importance of the franchise.

Motorists' Bookkeeping

AN EASTERN CANADIAN paper comments on the Teutonic thoroughness which has persuaded German manufacturers of the Volkswagen to supply each car with a booklet listing schedules for checks on different mechanical parts and spaces in which to list repairs.

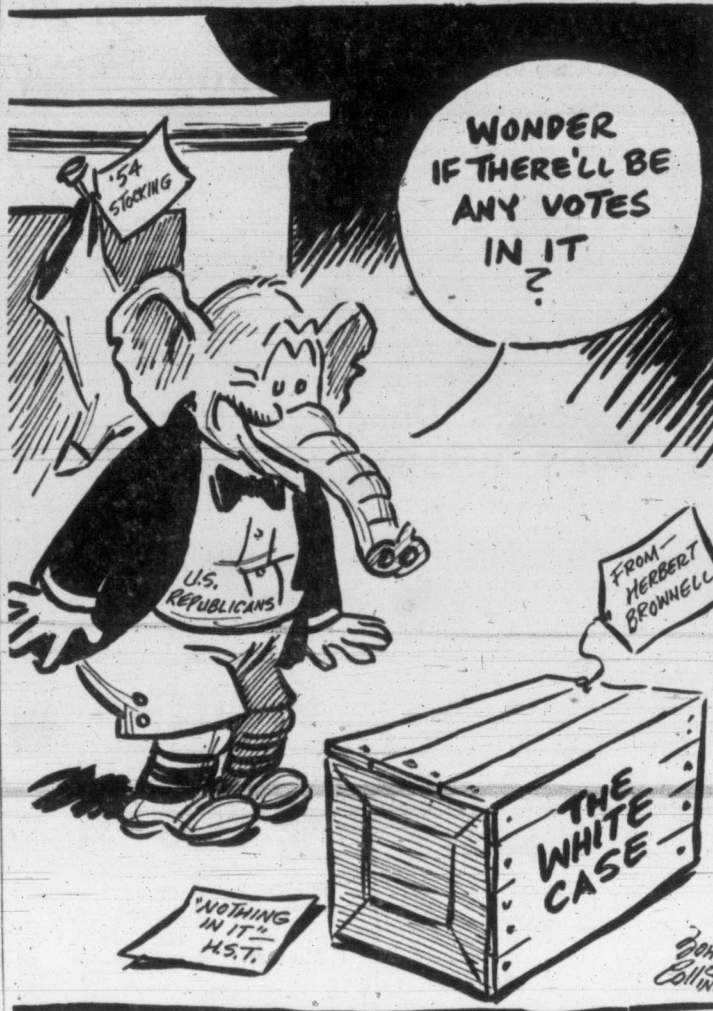

By observing the time-table and by making entries of work done on the machine the owner presumably enhances the resale value of his car. The practice is worth noticing, but to the motoring public it is less significant than other little books that are being kept these days. In some, entries are being made by insurance companies to tabulate the number and seriousness of accidents that occur and the drivers involved in them. Those whose names are entered will find the costs of insurance protection rising against them. This reflects an effort on the underwriters' part to make those responsible for the high loss totals—the basis on which rates are set—pay for the damage they do to the rate structure.

In another set of records, motorists who show extreme lack of competence and who drive recklessly are also being listed. When they have established for themselves enough demerits, they will leave the road.

The motorists' bookkeeping becomes highly interesting. The Volkswagen people are out to maintain sturdy and safe cars on the road. The authorities are concerned with making the roads safe for such cars.

Dreaming of a White Christmas

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

ONCE upon a time, and not so long ago at that, there was a little boy.

And he had a school teacher, so he did. I will not tell you his name, or her name, or where they lived, for that would be a gross betrayal of my friendship for them both.

By the way the story I am telling you is completely true. But while truth is a sure defense against a libel action, it is often hard to convince a jury that you happen to be telling the truth. They are all primed to listen to rhetoric, and if you hand them something else they may be tuned in on the wrong channel, so to speak. Perhaps this is a libel on juries. If so, you cannot sue me, for the law says you cannot libel a class. To say, for example, that Mr. X is a crook because he is an interior decorator is a libel on Mr. X... provided he is not a crook. I mean, which is a moot point. But it is not a libel on the whole race and breed of interior decorators. Morally it is a libel on them all right, but legally it is not.

YES, but to return to our little narrative. The teacher had a theory that people take too many baths. The heated water destroys the natural oils of the body, and the soap also causes more than half the skin diseases known to dermatology and the Mayo Brothers. In all this she was (and is) probably correct. The chief fault in her reasoning is this: if you stop taking baths, society will brand you as a heretic. Also, you may pick up more diseases than you avoid. A little bath now and then seems a good gamble. Well, her class (which consisted of eight-year-olds, I think) soon got the idea that Teacher didn't like baths. Further, they were persuaded that she didn't like people who took baths. I mean people who took baths immoderately, a branch of statistics in which she wasn't any too moderate herself.

Being anxious to oblige Teacher and impress her favorably, the class pretended it disapproved of bathing quite as violently as she did. So when she asked which of them were so depraved and reckless as to take a daily bath, only two children out of 35 cared to admit it. Two little hands went up. And the majority (as majorities will) practically lynched the heretical owners of those hands.

ALL of which is amusing enough. But what charmed me most was the little boy's account of this strange interlude. It had all happened many years ago. Yet he recalled it with undiminished pleasure. It appealed to his sense of irony. Few teachers, or parents either, realize that the young have a taste for irony... that most refined of civilized tastes. Editors claim irony is wasted on the reader, no matter how grown-up he may be. Yet all the time the tiniest children may be capable of irony that does often lie too deep for laughter. Perhaps it is lucky teachers don't guess this.

STUCK IN THE MUD

REACTIONARIES like myself... and before you call us reactionaries too often, pray recall what it is that we are reacting against... reactionaries like myself are often called stick-in-the-muds. I am not sure what that plural should be. Perhaps it is sticks-in-the-mud. There is probably some piffing rule about the way hyphens affect plurals, but I am proud to be ignorant of all that. I leave these questions to the pedants. You know, there is one very funny thing about pedants... the more they think they are speaking or writing well, the more they are impossible to follow. Which is a jolly good thing. If we once followed them, where would we be? Once again Nature is protecting us. God-bless Nature. And I think He did. Though He never stopped the pedants from forcing us to use a capital H for the divine pronoun... a fairly recent fashion. It wasn't used in the late 17th and early 18th centuries, which was the age of capitals, an age when even the smallest noun was given a Capital. Though far more men believed in God in that age of reason than believe in him (or Him) at present.

WELL, I started to worry this morning. Though I never worry long... I'm more a sprinter than a middle-distance worrier. I started to worry about what a stick-in-the-mud may be, and what sort of mud he is stuck in, and why he got stuck, and why it matters. A buried corpse is stuck in the mud all right, and perhaps that is what my enemies mean when they say I am a stick-in-the-mud. And then I pictured to myself (as we superstitious old fogies will) a churchyard scene at the stroke of midnight, when two ghosts had hopped up, clear through their slabs, as clean as a whistle.

And one ghost said to his mate "Hi, where's Charlie? I thought he was going to meet us here. What could be keeping him?" To which the second ghost replied "Oh, Charlie... he's just an old 'stick-in-the-mud' Charlie got stuck. That's Charlie for you. He'll never amount to a row of beans. Which is the worst thing you can say about a fertilizer. We old buried corpses are very sensitive about our ability to amount to a row of beans. Our one ambition is to help Mister Yeats have his nine bean rows when he gets to Innisfree, or wherever he's going.

Speaking of Politics

LIBELOUS

MAY I ask you for space in your paper to comment on the all-time low which has been reached in what I termed in my statement to the Press on October 24 as "The continued attacks by the Secreds in general terms on the Liberal party (mud slinging of the worst variety) as I see it is not a credit to their party."

On Wednesday night I listened to a paid political announcement of the Social Credit party over CJVI in which the announcer said "politicians whose major interest never was in good government, but what they could get out of it at the taxpayers' expense."

Both the Premier and Mr. Gundersen must have approved this statement which was made through the mouthpiece of their party. All the leaders of the Liberal Party, including T. D. Pattullo, John Hart and myself and the very fine group of men and women who have served in the Legislature under the banner of the Liberal party are, in my opinion, libelled by this statement.

To say the least, it is an insult to the intelligence of the electors of the City of Victoria to use this type of propaganda against men and women, many of them native sons and daughters and others who have spent most of their lives in the community which they represent.

By contrast to this libelous statement I look at George Gregory's advertising and campaign speeches and say that I am proud of young Gregory's approach to the responsibility of public office, and I feel sure the electors of this city will show by their support that they approve an honest and straightforward approach to our public affairs.

BYRON I. JOHNSON,
2895 Beach Drive.

SHAME

The shameful incident as reported in both daily newspapers regarding the Secred candidate and the Cenotaph service on November 11, if true, should profoundly shock all citizens of Victoria.

The premier, Mr. Bennett, as reported by the press at a Secred meeting a few days ago, stated: "If I were low can the Liberals get?"

The people of Victoria can justifiably say to the premier of this province: "How low can the premier and his Secred party get?"

VICTORIAN.

POOR LEGISLATION

I read one of your leading articles, viz: "Liquor is Fair Game."

I consider, and many, many thousands as well, that present liquor laws are very poor legislation.

There are many thousands of the older generation who have been accustomed to beer and wine from their youth and are now none the worse for it and have turned out good citizens. Many have held high positions in the Empire—many of us were even allowed beer at school.

Young people certainly should not drink spirits, but let them have all the beer and wine they want with their meals or for sociability.

I can see that if the present liquor legislation is not considerably loosened up, the ultimate result will undoubtedly end up in disaster. Wait and see.

Is B.C. going to become a nation of pussypoos or criminals? Prohibit or make things difficult? Get and you create desire. Again I repeat: Wait and see.

SUBSCRIBER.

DISAGREES WITH FRANK

Your correspondent Mr. Partridge has claimed that 75 per cent of the veterans will back him up in his scurrilous assertion that the attendance of Mr. Gundersen at the cenotaph was a political move. As a veteran myself I believe it is far more likely that 100 per cent of the veterans will condemn Mr. Partridge for he smearing the cenotaph with his filth, which is what his charge amounts to.

My sympathies are with Mr. Gundersen who is a sincere, able and outstanding man and would never allow himself to be made use of as a political pawn.

G. B. SCOTT.

DEBATABLE

According to your editorial, the Times finds it hard to understand why Mr. Gundersen thus far has failed to show interest in the Liberal proposal for a debate on the government's record.

I would like to say that quite the contrary, this is easily understood. The Liberal genius of twisting and distorting government statements to their own end is all too well known to anyone familiar with the subject.

Since the Secreds have done more to improve the position of B.C. than the previous governments had done in many times the number of years in office, it is obvious that the only question of debate is why the Liberals are trying to prevent the people of Victoria from having cabinet representation which they so well deserve. I have been wondering why the Liberals do not rent a theatre themselves, but have come to the conclusion that there are not enough Liberals left in the Province to fill it.

FRANK L. ROGERS.

1617 Haultain Street.

PRETENSE

At their campaign meetings, Bennett and others of his cabinet are most evasive during the question period, so here before the much wider audience of this column are a couple of questions for him to answer; and this audience will demand a clear answer.

How long, Mr. Bennett, do you and your cohorts propose to continue the misrepresentation and humbug of pretending to be "Social Credit" while knowing full well that there is not the slightest possibility, now or in the foreseeable future, of putting Social Credit into operation in this province or anywhere else in Canada?

Our second question is this: Why don't you be an honest man and change the name of your party to "Procrastinated" or some other suitable title, rather than go on living an absolute lie, and requiring your vassals to do likewise?

H. V. O'REILLY.

Oak Bay.

BEWARE THE WIZARDS
Victoria should beware of so-called financial wizards and money magicians, the men who know finance and stand head and shoulders above others of their generation when it comes to taxation.

It is an old saying that the art of taxing the public is to skin the animal without it knowing that it is being skinned.

This is where the wizardry comes in. Take the proposal to impose a yearly tax upon machinery or equipment used by some industrial or other concern in British Columbia. This annual fine will of course have to be earned and paid out of profits and passed on in increased form to the consumer.

No one would dream of suggesting that the wizard doesn't fully realize this, because that would be raising a doubt as to his real stature. Nor must it be presumed that the enterprises to be assessed for such tax will fail to recover it fully from the ultimate buyers of their product or services at home, whether it be for the houses we live in, our daily bread, or any other needs of our way of life. And even if such businesses can claim some mitigation from federal taxation in the process of their accounting, consumer prices in B.C. must ultimately refund that in increased taxes, which Ottawa may need to impose.

After sampling the education formula and the imported brands of Secred finance proposals so far submitted, it is to be hoped Victoria will show a sane and wholesome preference for native common sense by electing George Gregory by a substantial majority at the forthcoming by-election.

H. H. HOLLINS.

THE CONSUMER PAYS

How stupid can some people get? Listening to the radio this morning, I heard the following statement: "Ladies, the Social Credit government is the only government of B.C. who ever had the courage to tax big industry and the liquor business."

How can anyone get in front of a mike and make misstatements like that? It was made on a ladies' program twice in less than half an hour. He must think the ladies have very little intelligence if he expects them to swallow that.

Ladies, that liquor tax is paid by you, your husbands and me. The liquor people pay nil.

Referring to big industry, I suppose he means the lumber business. If so, who will pay increased taxation there? It can easily be placed on the consumer.

Don't be misled by misstatements. No matter what is taxed by the government the public or the consumer pays and keeps on paying.

W. BRYON.

2642 Scott Street.

DIVIDED OPPOSITION

It is somewhat intriguing to ponder the motive for this coming by-election on November 24. Forgetting any personal and considering only the whole transaction in its proper perspective, and that is, as to why a "special" finance minister is so desperately desired, especially since we have already had projected on the screen of economics the iniquitous proposed growth of frustrating taxation on the operating populace of British Columbia.

Mr. Bennett had a fairly full slate of his own newly indoctrinated following, and it is more than odd that one of them could not have taken up the portfolio of the former minister who had been rejected at the polls. More extraordinary still was the fact that the Premier already had the three seats of the capital city which he has now disrupted.

To make confusion more confounded Mr. Bennett has now asked for relief from the pressure of what he has chosen to describe as the "orthodox" Social Crediters. That could have some bearing on his desire to "legalize" a finance minister of his own choosing rather than pick from the following of his own faith that had already been chosen by the electorate. The gallantry with which Mr. Bennett stood aside on Remembrance Day so that the spotlight of publicity could be played on the man of his choice would obviously verify such an idea.

Under the circumstances, and considering that the whole process of "free" elections is at stake, it would have been wiser if all those who are opposing the Premier's own candidate would pool their strength behind one opposing candidate. A confusion of "parties" can only bring about the inevitability of someone slipping through on a minority count as regards true representation and thus still further weaken the real voice of the people versus power politics. All other parties would greatly enhance their prestige by doing the big thing by the people at large. After all, they are all opposing, aren't they?

ELLEN HART.

NO RUBBER STAMP

Since the B.C. Social Credit League, including Premier Bennett, refuse to give any reason, either to myself or the general public why I was "purged," I put forward my theories on this subject.

It was largely because of my inability to admit that because Mr. Bennett had greatness thrust upon him by becoming our Premier, it would at the same time make him "all wise" and out of the range of criticism from members of his own party.

It was also because I rebelled against the prevailing idea amongst many of its followers, that the new B.C. Social Credit political party was a kind of new religion, which must be accepted without any of its members questioning it.

The blindness by which many of its followers accepted it, was illustrated when Mr. Waldo Skillings was campaigning as a federal candidate, during which time he admitted he knew nothing about Social Credit, but nevertheless believed in it, and would, if elected, spend the next few months studying it. Also the blind unreasonable faith demonstrated at the Vancouver convention, when Cabinet Minister Eric Martin suggested that the best way to take liquor was to dehydrate it, and take it in the form of snuff.

Not only was this humorous fantastic idea seconded, but was actually voted upon and accepted by some 450 uncritical and unquestioning delegates, who had apparently pledged themselves not to oppose anything a cabinet minister or the Premier said.

Lastly, but perhaps most important of all, was the fact I championed the cause of labor.

The above reasons, plus the stand I took over the suspended two civil servants, is, I believe, the main reason for purging me out of the "party" which I had originally believed to be a movement. In short, I was unable to be a "rubber stamp" which I never have, and never hope to be.

Something More Than an Artist

A PERSON who takes his music out of Dixie, and keeps hoping a concert pianist some day will play "Rhapsody in Blue" during a Victoria recital, probably can't judge Robin Wood's ability. Not that ignorance stops many people from popping off these days, but you do expect some critical faculties to be shown.

Stott

Blessed are the critics. Still, with a musical IQ considerably below 80, a guy can appreciate an artist if the artist happens to have the gift of wearing his talents gracefully. Robin seems to wear his, which are strictly to draw, with the casualness of a man struggling on a comfortable old tweed jacket.

You get the impression, talking to him, that he'll admit he can play the piano, if you ask him. But you'd have to bring the subject up. If you did, and told him honestly how much you'd enjoyed a performance, he'd be pleased in an ingenuous sort of way—as if it were encouraging to feel he could give people pleasure with his music.

Audrey's been telling Victoria for the last week or so how good Robin Wood is. If you want to debate the issue, there are a few top-notch British experts whose opinions support Audrey.

WAY UP AND STILL RISING
I take it from what I've seen in print that the young man who was a youngster in Esquimalt is a long way up the ladder and still rising.

I haven't the equipment to judge him by comparison with the late William Kapell, or with people like Artur Schnabel. I'm told Robin Stein occasionally fluffs a note. For my money he can fluff several and I'll still cross the street to hear him. And I'm told that Kapell had reached a technical perfection that you'd have guaranteed him more musical crowns had he lived.

No, I'm in no position to evaluate the merits of the masters, old or new. Like the traditional parson's son, I rebelled early against the parental influence of a father who enjoys good music. But this I do know—maybe because people absorb some things through their pores—I like listening to Robin Wood.

When he executes a few Chopin selections that are familiar, I can appreciate the music. With or without knowledge, it isn't hard to enjoy his Ravel.

But I guess I'm partly impressed because Victoria hasn't too many native sons who have risen to the higher ranks in music or other arts. It feeds the fires of my hometown pride to know Robin's one of them and that recitals and recognition in Britain and on the continent haven't made his any the less a Victorian.

THEIR BOY

You noticed that after the college recital Thursday night. There was a friendliness about him and a sort of shy respect for the older people who knew him when. There was an eagerness to talk about old friends he hadn't been able to locate. He'd dropped in a couple of times to see Archie at the "Y," missed him both times, but had seen Viv. He'd call in again, he said.

You sensed a sort of proprietary interest in the crowd around him Thursday night. He was their boy. It left you hoping with some confidence that he'll stay that way, even as he climbs higher in his art. That's the way you'd like it—a personality that seems friendly, even to a guy who takes his music out of Dixie.

As Our Readers See It

IMPORTANT TO B.C.

Tomorrow's by-election in Victoria is of great interest and importance to the whole of British Columbia. Mr. Gundersen represents the Social Credit ideals in finance whereby debts and interest payments are kept to absolute minimums. He also heads the financial department which aims to carry out the policy of "pay as you go" by making sure that industries, large and small, contribute their fair share to public welfare by donating a more reasonable proportion of their profits from the exploitation of B.C.'s natural resources for government use in the people's interest.

These principles of sharing the Social Credit of the nation more fully are to be carried into the federal field which is being widely extended at the present time with much emphasis on the appeals to the good sense of the maritime provinces and those of Ontario and Quebec. Orvis Kennedy and Peer Paynter are doing a wonderful job out there now. When Social Credit prospers then Canada's welfare will be the best possible!

CHAS. W. DEANS, MSc, PEEng.
3049 West 27th Avenue, Vancouver, B.C.

CABINET REPRESENTATION

The main point in the Social Credit platform in the by-election appears to be cabinet representation for Victoria. I have always understood that a cabinet minister represented the people of British Columbia in the post to which he had been appointed.

From the emphasis placed on the importance of cabinet representation, we are led to believe that the constituents of a cabinet minister's riding get a "better deal" in his particular branch of the government. Has government morality descended to the point where we can expect that Mr. Gagliardi's riding will receive the major portion of public works expenditures as long as he is in office?

Victorians voted for their representatives in June and the fact that Mr. Gundersen is now seeking election as a cabinet minister should not mean that Victoria would have more representation in the government.

Since the Social Credit Party appears to have virtually no members capable of holding cabinet positions, I feel that the electors of Victoria should vote for a party that has a greater number of intelligent members. I am not a member of the Liberal party but I do not recall their ever having difficulty filling their executive positions.

BARBARA PETERSON.
Cordova Bay, P.O.

NEW MESSIAH?

I read the letter by Mr. Frank Partridge in your issue of the 14th wherein the writer deplored the absence of our premier, Mr. Bennett, from the Remembrance Day service. Perhaps the premier did not feel very well and preferred for his three colleagues in the cabinet to take his place. It makes one tremble to see our troubled world still seeking for a weapon that will destroy and obliterate the human race because our politicians have failed in ethics and in government. Of course, we all honor our loved dead; but we still want to see a new order where men will not seek to destroy each other by bitter words and hate. A society in which the politician will fence and fight for eternal principles. Why these harsh words directed against our leader, Mr. Bennett, who has chosen to lead the people of this province out of the house of political bondage into the promised land of freedom and economic security?

Our Liberal and Conservative leaders have failed us time and again. We can no longer live and grow on political patronage for the few. We need a fresh gospel that will capture the hearts and minds of a multitude. Social Credit will sow the seeds of friendship and good will and make war a thing of history. We have a minister of finance to elect, whom I know to be an honorable gentleman, who has already made a worthy contribution in the field of economy, which is reflected throughout the province. To paraphrase Mr. Partridge's words: The ambition of Social Credit is to make sacred every phase of government, to use the people's credit rightly, and to honor the Queen.

HARRY LANGLEY.

DETAILS, PLEASE

During the campaign for the June general election, Mrs. Arsens, a Sacred candidate, spoke of extravagances in the building and equipping of schools in B.C. Locations of such were not published.

Now that the election of school trustees will soon be upon us, will Mrs. Arsens please refresh our memory on her information by repeating her charges and telling us where they occurred?

This information is very necessary now, so that voters will know how to deal with those trustees responsible who are asking for re-election.

Cathedral Tower Stonework Starts During December

A start will be made next month in placing huge blocks of stone on the northwest tower of Christ Church Cathedral, architect John Armour said today.

Mr. Armour, junior partner in the firm of Wade and Stockdill, recently returned from a four-month tour of the United Kingdom, spent mainly in viewing restoration work done on notable English cathedrals.

While in London he conferred with Canon E. P. Laycock, former Victoria priest and architect, who worked with the late J. C. M. Keith in the preparation of original plans for the cathedral.

He said stone quarried at Newcastle Island will be used to complete the northwest and southwest towers. Much of the stone required already is stored at the rear of the cathedral, but negotiations are under way with the Canadian Pacific Railway to bring loose stone to the now-abandoned quarry in Victoria for finishing.

Much of the fine molding work will be finished with artificial stone, manufactured from cement and already a feature of the cathedral construction.

Suggestions have been advanced to wall in the eastern end of the cathedral with stone, but Mr. Armour said this would prevent extension of the nave and cancel in the future.

PRAIRIE ROUND-UP

Two Manitoba Fishermen Believed Dead, Boat Found

FLIN FLON, Man. (BUP)—Two local fishermen were believed dead today after their light boat was found floating bottom-up in the storm-tossed waters of nearby Barrier Lake, Sask.

Police said William Collins, 30, and Julian W. Lechowicz left their homes in this northwest Manitoba town Saturday and their boat was discovered by some friends Sunday.

The two men were last seen alive when setting up camp on the lake near the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border. The bodies have not been recovered.

MISSING PLANE SAFE

WINNIPEG (CP)—A plane reported missing with four persons aboard has reached its Northwest Territories destination after sitting out a spell of bad weather.

This was reported late Saturday by the RCAF as it withdrew search planes which had started hunting for the ski-equipped Norseman.

The plane left Churchill, Man., Friday morning on a 300-mile flight to the Eskimo settlement of Ennadai Lake. It encountered bad weather and landed to sit out the storm, flying on to Ennadai Lake Saturday.

Piloted by Gunnar Ingelbriktion of Churchill, the plane carried Barney McGrath and Harry Berard, both of Edmonton, and Dave Croal of Churchill.

YOUNGSTER INJURED

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winken, Blinken and Nod ran over nine-year-old James Richard Williams here Saturday.

The nursery rhyme characters were part of a float entered in the Santa Claus parade.

James was one of a group of youngsters who had crowded onto the street. He slipped and the float-deck-trailer carrying the float passed over his leg. He escaped with bruises.

CANADIAN DECORATED

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two years ago Hugh Cawker found himself in Paris with nothing to do. He joined the French Foreign Legion.

Now he's back home, ribbons decorating his lapel, and his right arm gone after service in Indo-China.

The RCAF veteran won the Medaille Militaire and the Croix de Guerre with Palm, in an engagement around Thab Binh, southeast of Hanoi, last January. His right arm was amputated above the elbow by a burst of machinegun fire from a Communist Vietminh guerrilla.

What prompted a young man to leave civilian life for a hazardous, $50-a-month stint with the Foreign Legion?

He says: "It must have been airmen."

AIRMAN KILLED

RED DEER, Alta. (BUP)—An inquest will be held this week into the death of FQ William H. Edwards, 29, Milner, B.C., in a traffic mishap Saturday night.

The RCMP said Edwards was killed instantly when the car he was driving ran into the ditch and turned turtle when he apparently lost control of it. Edwards was returning to the Penhold air force base at the time.

Montreal Transport Workers End Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—A wildcat strike of some 5,000 Montreal transport workers was called off Saturday night when union members voted by a show of hands to return to their jobs Monday morning.

The strike ended just as suddenly as it started Saturday morning.

The tram and bus operators voted to return to work after day.

Eucher Corbell president of the Montreal local of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers (CCL), appealed for an end to the snap strike.

"I am not asking you to go back to work tonight, nor tomorrow," Mr. Corbell told the men. "Go home and rest, and get on with the job on Monday."

Many strikers did not show their opinion when the vote was called, but the majority decided to resume work after the week end.

Coming on a Saturday, the strike did not result in the disruption that would have occurred on any other week-day, when many more thousands of commuters would have been stranded. There were no serious incidents.

News of the walkout struck at the hearts of hosts of children who planned for weeks for the big Santa Claus parade.

$350 Million Aid to N. Korea

Red China Signs 10-Year Economic Pact; North Korea Debt Wiped Out

TOKYO (UP)—Communist China and North Korea signed a 10-year economic pact today, wiping out North Korea's entire war debt to China, a Red radio broadcast announced.

The agreement signed in Peiping promises North Korea $350,000,000 worth of reconstruction aid for the next four years.

The agreement cancels all North Korean debts to China incurred from June 25, 1950—the day the Korean war started—until December 31, 1953, radio Peiping said.

The broadcast did not specify what these debts were, but apparently they were the result of China's military aid to North Korea during the war.

The Communist broadcast said China will give North Korea reconstruction materials valued at $350,000,000 from 1954 to 1957 inclusive.

This valuation is based on the December 6, 1952, Communist Yuan exchange rate at Hong Kong.

The pact was signed by Chinese premier Chou En-Lai and North Korean premier Kim Il Sung in Peiping after 10 days of conferences between the two most powerful Red governments in Asia.

The broadcast said China will aid North Korea for the next

CMA's General Manager Dies

During the Second World War Mr. Sheils was appointed deputy minister of munitions and supply.

He was assistant general manager of Robert Simpson (Western) Limited in Regina before moving to Toronto in 1931. Mr. Sheils had been executive vice-president and director of N. M. Davis Corporation Limited, Toronto, since 1946 and has been connected with many other Canadian firms.

He leaves his widow and three sons, all of Toronto.

Ontario to Take Hand in Gold Mine Strike

TORONTO (BUP)—The Ontario government will intervene in northern Ontario's gold mines strike for the first time in 21 weeks Tuesday at a top level conference between the CIO United Steelworkers of America and officials of the strikebound Hollinger mine.

It was believed, however, that even if the Hollinger strike were settled, the other strikebound mines would have to be engaged one at a time to bring complete resumption of work in the Timmins district.

Provincial Labor Minister Charles Daley asked for Tuesday's talks and it was expected Hollinger president Jules Timmins and C. H. Millard, the union's national director, would attend.

Hollinger is only a link in a chain of walkouts from northern mines but a settlement induced through the talks could pave the way for seven other gold mines in the area, where more than 5,000 men are out. Key issues are the checkoff and wages.

to a man's character!

Among many a man's private papers are certain documents that can tell you things about him which you might not otherwise learn for some time.

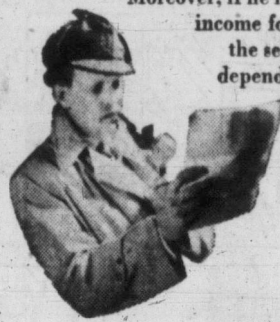

These documents are his life insurance policies. And they indicate, for instance, that the man who owns them probably is thrifty, foresighted and realistic.

Here too is quite reliable evidence that he is a good provider—one who is genuinely concerned about his family's future welfare. And this, in turn, suggests that he is considerate of others.

Chances are he is also a dependable worker. For his ownership of life insurance demonstrates readiness to assume responsibility—an attitude that helps a man in any job.

Moreover, if he is also using life insurance to build income for his later years, you can bet he's the self-reliant type. You won't find him depending on relatives or charity to do what he can do for himself!

All in all, he's probably like most life insurance policyholders in every community—a really solid citizen!

DEFEAT VAMPIRES

Cadets Gain Grid Finals

Royal Roads 16, Vampires 6

Two football teams, one light and spirited, and the other heavy and aggressive, will meet next Saturday at Heywood Park for the Tommy Douglas Trophy and the 1953 championship of the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League.

The first of those two teams, the light and spirited Royal Roads cadets, gained the final by scoring a well-deserved 16-6 victory over Vampires Saturday on a mid-bound Heywood Avenue field in their one-game semi-final contest.

And while the cadets were busy overcoming Vampires to gain the final, their eventual opponents, Bert Nelson's hefty Navy squad, was watching the game, checking for weaknesses which they hope to capitalize on next Saturday in what could be the game of the year.

Navy got into the final by virtue of a 6-5 victory over Oak Bay Whites in their sudden death semi-final bracket. Everything that has happened during the season will be forgotten as the clubs toss the whole boodle on the table in one game for the crown Saturday.

GOOD MUDDERS

Dave Turner's fighting cadets, taking to the mud without too much apparent difficulty, were forced to come from behind to defeat Vampires in Saturday's battle but they proved equal to the task as they flashed their best form when Vampires walled in the ooze that was a result of heavy rain before and during the game. The cadets simply had more lasting power than the defending champion Vampires.

Vampires almost took the lead in the first two minutes of the game as fullback Art Dawe was dead on the posts but a couple of yards short on a field goal attempt from the cadet 45-yard line.

However, Vampires forced the run of play and grabbed the lead in the second quarter when they intercepted a cadet pass. The short toss was batted down by secondary Norm Lidstone and Rick McVie snatched it on the line of scrimmage to give Vampires a first down on the Royal Roads 30. On the first play from scrimmage, Vamp quarter back Wayne Henderson tossed a pass down the middle to Art Manson. The pass was high but Manson made a great leaping stab and went over standing up. Dawe converted to make it 6-0.

The makeshift cadet team, hurt all through the line-up by injuries, pressed hard but were unable to score until the final play of the half.

At that time, Paul Manson, a former quarterback playing fullback, drifted to his left on an optional pass-run play and found quarterback Ron Binnie with a scoring pass. Cadets were given two chances on the convert, due to a Vampire off-side, but missed both times, leaving Vamps ahead 6-5 at the half.

Midway through the third quarter, Royal Roads broke the tight ball game open. They recovered a Vampire fumble on the Vamp 25 and were aided by a 10-yard penalty to Vamps.

WINNING TOUCHDOWN

Two plunges netted only four yards but on third down, Binnie hit Len Creelman with a short pass for the first down and after that halfback Steve Oakley squirmed over for the winning major from two yards out. The convert again failed.

Royal Roads tallied their third touchdown in the last quarter when Manson took a handoff through the right side, cut across field and streaked into the end zone without a hand being laid on him. Charlie Robertson converted.

Oaks, Manson, Ted White and Norm Freeman spearheaded the cadet offensive while the most effective ball-carrying for the Vampires was done by little Chuck Bishop. Dawe and playing secondary Norm Lidstone. At half-time, two of Mitchell's juvenile teams put on a whale of a battle, playing to a scoreless draw.

International Jumping Trophy Won by Britain

By CRAIG SWAYZE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO (CP) — Britain Saturday night won the international horse jumping trophy for the first time since the cup's inception in 1925.

The victory climaxed the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair's eight-day show attended by a record 500,000 persons.

Foxhunter ridden by Lt.-Col. H. M. Llewellyn, and Prince Hal, ridden by Miss Pat Smythe, toured the 11-jump course without a fault to lead Britain's victory. Monarch, with William Hanson aboard, counted eight faults.

CANADA THIRD
The United States team was second with 16 faults. Canada and Ireland tied for third with 27 faults each.

The U.S. won the international low-score competition—three jumping events with total faults counting—with 24 faults. Canada was second with 38, Britain third with 47 and Ireland fourth with 77.

Bob Morrison posted a 76, Bob Johnstone going the 18-hole route in 77 strokes.

Other scores: George Bigelow 78, Vince Clarkson 78, John Merriman 78, Jim Robertson 79, A. Senior 79, Vic Painter 81, Phil Redford 82, George Pellow 82, Don Carlow 81, John Carlow 81, George Straith Jr. 83, Joe Briggs 84, Tom Harris Jr. 86, Warren Williams 90, and Bill McColl Jr. 91.

Senior and Johnstone were low net with 71's.

Next round will be at the Uplands.

A wall 45 feet high and the width of the standard gauge road track, could be built around the borders of the U.S. from the bituminous coal mined last year in that country.

Hunted in Sub-Zero Weather

"Brother, it was cold up there—10 below zero—when we knocked over that big fellow," said Gar Taylor, left, and Stan Kendall when they returned to Victoria Saturday bearing moose trophies from the Cariboo country west of Williams Lake. Biggest moose went 800 pounds. He did not go down until the hunters had pumped four rifle bullets into him at 475 yards. Smaller specimen went 400 pounds, was dropped at 50 yards.

Field for the Birds But United Still Wins

United 1, Firefighters 0
By TONY BRISTOWE
At half-time Saturday a platoon of seagulls occupied the pitch at Royal Athletic Park and paddled comfortably up and down. So during the interval, before the return of the bedraggled players chased them away, the park was being put to suitable use. Then, as the downpour grew steadily heavier, the solemn farce of soccer was continued.

United beat Firefighters 1-0, but it was the losers who played what good football was seen, and nothing short of miraculous goalkeeping by Bill McAllister stopped them from being several goals up by half time. This was indeed a performance to remember, as time and time again McAllister saved the situation behind a highly shaky defense. True, the ball twice rebounded from an upright when there was nothing else to stop it, but such fine keeping deserved a shut-out.

Certainly United deserved nothing else, least of all a win. Throughout, they seemed without a plan or the skill to manage a sullen ball on the slippery, slimy turf. Wally Milligan brought some cohesion when he came on for Cedric Robb, who received a bang on the knee after 35 minutes, but even he could not call forth what just did not exist—the ability to control the ball and to move it into the open spaces along the ground.

Firefighters countless times opened up the game down the wings, where Doug Hemmerling and Frank Ambler were given ample room to manoeuvre. These two, with hot-tempered Art Hughes at centre forward, continually hustled the United defense, but throughout, all their best efforts broke on the rocks of McAllister's handling. Of the rest of the defense, only Bill Hope emerged with any credit.

In sharp distinction, most of United's approach work was spoiled before it began to look dangerous, and several opportunities were lost by the wings not playing well enough. United's goal came with the growing dusk, as Ab Travis hit an indeterminate ball which was deflected into the net by a defender.

SEVEN DEAD
Italy Wins Pan-American Road Race
PARRAL, Mexico (AP)—Italy's Humberto Maglioli picked up eighth place in the big sports class of the Pan-American road race as he flashed across the finish line first here on the initial leg of Sunday's 437-mile run between Durango and Chihuahua.

Argentina's Juan Manuel Fangio and Italy's Piero Taruffi, both driving Lancias, followed in that order.

Maglioli's blistering drive gave him an unofficial time for the 251 miles of two hours and 15 minutes, nine minutes ahead of Fangio.

Felice Bonetto of Italy was killed Saturday when his car crashed into a light pole. Bonetto's death brought to three the number of drivers killed in the gruelling test. Four spectators also lost their lives.

Cougars Sixth as Double-O Applied

Two Shutouts Ruin Hope of Third Place
Seattle 3, Victoria 0
Westminster 2, Victoria 0

Victoria Cougars are still finding goals hard to get in the Western Hockey League.

Cougars went into week-end action gunning for third spot in the seven-team loop, but came out of it suffering two shutout defeats, their first of the season, and holding down sixth place.

New Westminster Royals were the first team to hold Cougars scoreless this season, gaining a 2-0 decision in the mainland city Saturday night. Seattle Bombers performed the same feat Sunday night, blanking Cougars, 3-0.

MEET CANUCKS
Cougars will attempt to hit the win trail at Vancouver Tuesday night, meeting Canucks at the mainland city before returning home for a game with Seattle Bombers, Friday.

Bombers jumped into an early lead Sunday when Joe Bell scored on a goal-mouth shot midway through the first period. Barton Bradley and Wayne Brown got the others in the final period.

Sixteen penalties were called, eight in the first period and four in each of the second and third sessions.

Cougars made attempts to equalize the contest in the close-checking second period, but their five-man rushes in the final session backfired.

Bradley broke away from a gangling attack after two minutes in the final period to give Bombers a two-goal lead. Mark Marquess stole the puck during another rush and passed to Brown, who beat goalie Ralph Almas cleanly.

New Westminster picked up their second victory in as many nights Saturday, having won in Victoria Friday night, 5-3.

TOO MUCH GORDY
Saturday night's contest was just a case of too much Gordy Fashoway. Fashoway opened the scoring at the 15-minute mark of the first period on a power play and added the clincher with a backhand shot after taking a pass from Lloyd Durham late in the second period.

Temper flared late in the second period with Royals' Pierre Brilliant and Cougars' Andy Heberton trading blows after a clash in the New Westminster end. Both drew five minutes for fighting. Stan Maxwell had drawn a 10-minute misconduct shortly before.

In another Saturday night contest, Calgary Stampede posted their third straight victory by defeating last-place Edmonton Flyers, 8-4, at Calgary. Vancouver Canucks tied Seattle Bombers, 1-1, at Nanaimo.

Cleveland Approaches Pro Title
NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland Browns, the only undefeated team in the National Football League, came within one game of clinching the eastern division championship Sunday when they defeated Pittsburgh Steelers 20-16.

The Browns have three games left and they need to win only one to wrap up their fifth division title.

The western division title, however, is far from settled. Detroit, Los Angeles and San Francisco, the three contenders in that order, all won their games. The defending champion Lions turned back Chicago Bears 20-16 and showed a 7-2 mark. The Rams whipped Baltimore Colts 21-13 for a 6-2 record and San Francisco 49ers swamped Green Bay Packers 37-7 and now stand 6-3 for the season.

In the only other game on Sunday's card, Washington Redskins defeated New York Giants 24-21.

In a Saturday night fixture, Philadelphia Eagles walloped the winless Chicago Cardinals 38-0 to keep alive their faint hopes of catching Cleveland in the eastern conference.

V'S NIP FLYERS
SPOKANE, Wash. (CP)—Penticton V's Sunday evening their two-game interleague series with Spokane Flyers here by edging the Flyers 4-3 on Bill Warwick's two assisted in period goals.

STREAK ENDED
It was the first defeat in two years for the former champions, who had given up only 30 points in all of their previous games this season. Solid, all-round play, sparked by the passing wizardry of quarterback Ron came on a headline kick.

Hilltops, getting six points in each of the first two quarters, carried a 12-0 lead into the second half. It was 24-6 at the end of three quarters. The winners scored six touchdowns and converted three. Their other point came on a headline kick.

Wings Rebound; Edge New York
Montreal 2, Boston 2; Toronto 5, Chicago 1
Detroit 3, New York 1

Detroit Red Wings, whose forte this season has been coming from behind for National Hockey League victories, did it again Sunday night by downing New York Rangers, 3-2, after trailing 2-1 going into the final period.

Toronto Maple Leafs swept their two week-end games by defeating Chicago Black Hawks 5-1 Sunday after blanking the Rangers 1-0 Saturday night.

The five week-end games left the Habits in the lead with a three-point margin over Detroit and Toronto, tied for second place.

DINEEN FIRES WINNER
Rookie Bill Dineen's hard shot past Johnny Bower midway in the third period at New York gave Detroit their uphill victory over the Blueshirts before 11,602 spectators. Alex Delvecchio set up the winning marker, bouncing a hard drive off Bower's pads.

Johnny Wilson earlier in the final had tied the score with his second goal of the night while Rangers' Hy Buller was in the penalty box.

Sid Smith of the Leafs scored twice in 29 seconds of the third period at Chicago to turn a tight game into an easy victory for Toronto.

Victim of the Leafs' attack was Jean Marois, 28-year-old rookie goalie brought up from Quebec Aces to replace Al Rollins. The Hawks' regular net-minder was ailing from chicken-pox and the after-effects of having three teeth out.

MACKAY TIES IT
Calum Mackay's third-period goal in Boston enabled Montreal to tie the Bruins before 11,420 fans in Boston Garden. He fired a 10-footer past Boston's Sugar Jim Henry after Doug Harvey's pass bounced off teammate Floyd Curry directly to Mackay.

The tie ended a string of six Canadian losses to the Bruins on Boston ice, dating from last December.

Bernie Geoffrion's ninth goal of the season was enough to give the Canadiens their Saturday-night verdict over Detroit at Montreal.

In Toronto the Leafs rode to victory against New York on the strength of Jim Morrison's goal late in the third period.

Intermediate Grid
MONTREAL (CP) — Lakeshore Flyers overwhelmed Fort William Redskins 23-8 Saturday to win the Percy Robinson Trophy and the Canadian intermediate football champion for the first time in 25 years.

The Flyers, behind a strong wingline, walked all over the western team and halted the visitors' vaunted passing attack until the third quarter.

Hilltops Take Junior Grid Championship
Adams, saw the Hilltops exceed that total by four points as they dominated play from the start.

Hilltops, who have won 13 games in an undefeated season, have allowed 103 points. But they have scored 501 as compared with 253 by the Windsor club.

Adam, who completed 24-of-32 passes against Vancouver, was once more the star of the game. He scored one touchdown, passed for three and set up others with his steady aerial barrage. Adam, only 19 and a four-season veteran, is being eyed by Saskatchewan Roughriders and will likely make the jump to senior football next season.

Hilltops, getting six points in each of the first two quarters, carried a 12-0 lead into the second half. It was 24-6 at the end of three quarters. The winners scored six touchdowns and converted three. Their other point came on a headline kick.

WEEK-END HOCKEY SUMMARIES

In a third division contest Ken Libel scored two goals to pace Eagles to a 4-1 victory over Black and White Taxi. Ron Hope and Frank Hallam added single markers for the winners while Wendy Budynsky was the marksman for the losers.

Don Colyer and Bill Gower each tallied one to give Combines a 2-0 shutout win over Heaney's in fifth division play. Shepherd's Dairy won from Delta Electric by default and St. Louis College defaulted to Eagles.

Bombers, Ti-Cats Win Series; Will Meet in Grey Cup Final

Hamilton Too Powerful for Alouettes

MONTREAL (CP)—Explosive power behind a punishing line swept Hamilton Tiger-Cats to a 22-11 victory over Montreal Alouettes Sunday, and into the Grey Cup final.

It was a bitter, bruising struggle in which Ti-Cats struck for touchdowns late in the fourth quarter against a grim but fast weakening Montreal defense.

Hamilton's power had to overcome a 9-0 lead the Als set up early in the second quarter through Chuck Hunsinger's converted touchdown and Ray Poole's field goal. The Als counted only a safety touch after that.

12 FOR LOGAN

Tip Logan accounted for 12 of Hamilton's points, a touchdown, a field goal, two converts and credit for a safety touch. Ed Songin and Lou Kusserow scored Hamilton's fourth-quarter touchdowns.

The Cats went into the lead for the first time after 57 minutes of play when Songin rammed over the line. It was the fifth successive crash the Cats had hurled into the Montreal line from 12 yards out.

In the last three minutes, excitement and emotions of crowd and players almost blew the game into utter confusion.

Alouettes' last desperate offensive stalled and they were forced to kick. Ray Truant gathered in the ball and was downed on the Montreal 38. On the next play Bernie Cusick streaked around left end and headed full-tilt for the goal line.

PETE KARPUS PLAY

Suddenly John O'Quinn, the red-headed southerner who had just left the game from his end position, leaped from the Montreal bench without his helmet, sprinted over the sideline and nailed Cusick.

When things were straightened out, referee Hap Shoultice penalized Alouettes half the distance to their goal line.

As it turned out, the decision made little difference. Kusserow plowed over on second down and Hamilton was in the Grey Cup final for the first time since 1935.

Esquimalt in Football Lead

Esquimalt 4, Wood Motors 1

Esquimalt soccer club is assured of the Victoria and District Football Association league lead for at least two weeks.

Saturday, Esquimalt came from behind with four second-half goals to defeat Wood Motors, 4-1, and take a two-point lead over second-place Canadian Scottish. The two scheduled games for Sunday were canceled due to weather conditions.

Scottish are scheduled to meet third-place Civil Service in a McGavin Cup final contest next Saturday at Royal Athletic Park at 2:30. The Victoria West-Heaney's game originally set for Sunday will probably be played next Sunday.

FIRST GOAL

Wood Motors surged in front after 40 minutes of play, centre-half John Weldon hitting the lower right corner behind goalie Gene Pedneault on a penalty kick.

Fifteen minutes into the second-half Esquimalt deadlocked the game when Nip Sage and outside-right Jack Blevins combined to set up centre-forward Ken Barnes. Barnes made no mistake from in front of the goal.

WINNING TALLY

Ed Young put Esquimalt out front to stay at the 30-minute mark on a play with Alec Stewart. Blevins upped the margin on a pass from Sloan five minutes later and Stewart scored on a Blevins pass at the 40-minute mark to complete the scoring.

Bays Blanked By Oarsmen

Playing one of their better games of the season, defending champion JBAA blanked Oak Bay Wanderers, 14-0, at MacDonald Park Saturday in a Victoria Rugby Union senior league contest.

Oarsmen took a 6-0 half-time lead on converted tries by forward Jack Shields and Ted Martin. Backfielder Wally Malcolm scored both second-half tries, taking Bob Abbott's pass and going 25 yards for the first and sprinting 30 yards for the final try.

Wanderers came close when speedy Dave McKenzie broke into the clear late in the game but he was downed by Frank Gower on a spectacular play.

Oarsmen defeated Wanderers, 6-0, in the two-club's first meeting and played to a 6-6 deadlock in the second.

Home Brews Lead Winnipeg Over Beaches

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers, relying mainly on rookie Canadian talent for their scoring, swept into the Grey Cup final Saturday with an easy 24-4 victory over Toronto Balm Beach before 15,900 shivering fans.

The game, first sudden-death Cup semi-final played in Western Canada in the colorful history of the classic, was a warm-up for the Western Interprovincial Football Union champions who were overwhelming favorites to whip Beaches.

The well-drilled Toronto team held a 4-0 first-quarter lead as Bombers failed to scrimmage the ball out of their own end of the field, but wilted before the fast-charging Winnipeg front wall, led by import tackle Dick Huffman and Buddy Tinsley and defensive end Tommy Harpley, former Toronto Argonaut and Beach star.

BOMBERS TAKE OVER

Bombers went ahead 8-4 at the half and added three touchdowns in the final 30 minutes.

Import end Neil Armstrong, rookie fullback Ron Kelly and Canadian halfbacks Len Melzer and Ernie Becker scored majors for Bombers. Buddy Korchak, leading scorer of the WIFU this season, kicked two converts.

The other two points came on a safety-touch when Beaches' George Ellis was pulled down behind his own goal line.

Dick Gregory, import back from Minnesota and the ORFU's leading scorer and most valuable player, booted a field goal for Beaches. Ellis added the other point on a single over the Bomber goal line where Tom Casey was routed.

THREE QUARTERBACKS

Normie Hill, first-string defensive end, guard Dean Bandiera and end Bud Grant didn't play for Bombers. Coach George Traflet gave his three quarterbacks a shot at signalling, with Joe "Black Magic" Zaleski taking the first and third quarters, Jack Jacobs the second and most of the fourth and Geoff Crain, McGill Redmen graduate, the tail-end of the last quarter.

Jacobs and Crain each tossed a touchdown pass, with Crain's coming on his first play.

FANS MAKE LAP ROBE OUT OF BIG GRID TARP

WINNIPEG (CP)—Spectators in the south end of Winnipeg Stadium Saturday as the Blue Bombers defeated Toronto Balm Beach, 24-4, had almost as rough a time as the players.

Workmen clearing the big tarpaulin off the field with its heavy weight of snow dumped it hastily beyond the deadline. The fans promptly turned it into a huge lap robe and the front-row spectators in the small bleachers all had their legs covered.

The tarp gave police some trouble. On two occasions when converts were kicked into the area, spectators grabbed the ball and hid it from police under the tarp.

UCLA, Michigan State Get Rose Bowl Bids

NEW YORK (AP)—UCLA, previously tied with the won a Rose Bowl bid on the Bruins for conference leadership, were held to a 21-21 tie by California, completing a 5-1 record.

Otherwise, the main happening on the last big Saturday of the season was Notre Dame, the No. 1 team in the Associated Press poll all season, being tied by underdog Iowa, 14-14.

The Irish, unscathed through their first seven games, had to come from behind twice to gain the tie. They tied it up a second time with a touchdown pass from Ralph Guglielmi to Don Shannon six seconds before the game ended.

UWO Mustangs Win Ninth Grid Title

TORONTO (CP)—A high, wobbly 30-yard touchdown pass thrown in the last 40 seconds of play gave University of Western Ontario Mustangs their ninth Senior Intercollegiate football championship Saturday.

Behind 8-7 and with University of Toronto Blues ready to celebrate their second college title in three years, the defending-champion Mustangs stunned the 10,000-odd fans at Varsity Stadium with the pay-off pass from quarter Don Getty to Murray Henderson to win the sudden-death final 12-8.

NEW MARK SET

Vic High Wins Cross Country

Gordon Hartley's Victoria High School team won the Vancouver Island cross-country championship race at Royal Roads Saturday. But they were forced to share a good part of the glory with University of British Columbia's Gary Gibson.

Hampered by rain and poor underfooting, Gibson traveled the 3.8 miles long course in 20 minutes and 48 seconds to establish a new course record.

His time bettered the former mark of 21 minutes, 19 seconds set last year by Ken Murray of Mount View High School.

Victoria High's Jim Pickup also shattered the former standard, timing in at 21 minutes, 12 seconds. Pickup and Gibson ran together from the start, Gibson pulling ahead in the last quarter mile.

Jim Moore of Victoria College took third place with Mike Chambers, Harry Stevens and UBC Saturday.

Tom Croft, all of Victoria High, capturing fourth, fifth and sixth spots respectively.

Victoria High team concluded with 17 points, under the reverse system of scoring, to take first place. UBC was runner-up with 28 points and Royal Roads was third at 51. Victoria College was fourth, Belmont High School fifth and Navy sixth. Three army teams from Chilliwack placed last.

Following the race the Victoria High team was presented with the Admiral Nelles Trophy, which they were defending. The squad will defend the Pacific Northwest title at UBC Saturday.

Russian Iron Curtain Worried Churchill

(This is another installment of Volume VI of the war memoirs of Winston Churchill, Britain's Prime Minister. Other installments will be carried daily.)

By WINSTON S. CHURCHILL

Apprehension for the future and many perplexities had filled my mind as I moved about among the cheering crowds of Londoners in their hour of well-won rejoicing after all they had gone through. The Hitler peril, with its ordeals and privations, seemed to most of them to have vanished in a blaze of glory. The tremendous foe they had fought for more than five years had surrendered unconditionally. All that remained for the three victorious Powers was to make a just and durable peace, guarded by a World Instrument, to bring the soldiers home to their longing loved ones, and to enter upon a Golden Age of prosperity and progress. No more, and surely, thought their peoples, no less.

The Soviet menace, to my eyes, had already replaced the Nazi foe. But no comradeship against it existed. How then could we reach that final settlement which alone could reward the toils and sufferings of the struggle? I could not rid my mind of the fear that the victorious armies of democracy would soon disperse, and that the real and hardest test still lay before us.

Obviously the first aim must be a conference with Stalin. Within three days of the German surrender I cabled the President:

Prime Minister to President Truman.

11 May 45.

"I think we should offer an invitation jointly or severally at the same moment to Stalin to meet us at some agreed unshattered town in Germany for a Tripartite Meeting in July. We should not rendezvous at any place within the present Russian military zone. Twice running we have come to meet him. . . . If you will entertain the idea of coming over here in the early days of July, His Majesty will send you the most cordial invitation and you will have a great reception from the British nation. . . . I urge you coming here in the early days of July and that we leave together to meet U.S. at wherever is the best point outside Russian-occupied territory to which he can be induced to come. . . ."

Favored Meeting Proposed by Stalin

He replied at once that he would rather have Stalin propose the meeting and he hoped our ambassadors would induce him to suggest it. Mr. Truman then declared that he and I ought to go to the meeting separately so as to avoid any suspicion of "ganging up." When the Conference ended, he hoped to visit England and his duties in America permitted. I did not fail to notice the difference of view which this telegram conveyed, but I accepted the procedure the President proposed.

In these same days I also sent what may be called the "Iron Curtain" telegram to President Truman. Of all the public documents I have written on this issue I would rather be judged by this.

Prime Minister to President Truman.

12 May 45.

"I am profoundly concerned about the European situation. I think that half the American Air Force in Europe has already begun to move to the Pacific theatre. The newspapers are full of the great movements of the American armies out of Europe. Our armies also, under previous arrangements, are likely to undergo a marked reduction. The Canadian Army will certainly leave. The French are weak and difficult to deal with. Anyone can see that in a very short space of time our armed power on the Continent will have vanished, except for moderate forces to hold down Germany."

Russian Attitude Worried Churchill

"Meanwhile what is to happen about Russia? I have always worked for friendship with Russia, but, like you, I feel deep anxiety because of their misinterpretation of the Yalta decisions, their attitude towards Poland, their overwhelming influence in the Balkans, excepting Greece, the difficulties they make about Vienna, the combination of Russian power and the territories under their control or occupied, coupled with the Communist technique in so many other countries, and above all their power to maintain very large armies in the field for a long time. What will be the position in a year or two, when the British and American Armies have melted and the French has not yet been formed on any major scale, when we may have a handful of divisions, mostly French, and when Russia may choose to keep two or three hundred on active service?"

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH

With Little Worry

"Eat, talk, laugh or even without fear of insecure false teeth dropping, slipping or wobbling. PASTERTECH holds plates firmly. This pleasant powder has no gummy, goopy, pasty taste or feeling. Doesn't cause nausea. It's alkaline (non-acid). Checks 'plate odor' (denture breath). Get PASTERTECH at any drug store."

its faithful service in the cause of freedom from the first day of the war. I objected to the implicit idea that the new disputes now opening with the Soviets lay between Britain and Russia. The United States was as fully concerned and committed as ourselves. I made this quite clear to Mr. Davies in our conversation, which also ranged over the whole field of Eastern and Southern European affairs.

In order that there should be no misconception I drafted a formal minute which I gave to Mr. Davies, after cordial agreement with the Foreign Secretary, who had now returned to London.

The President received this note in a kindly and understanding spirit. I was very glad to learn that all was well and that the justice of our view was not unrecognized by our cherished friends.

On May 27 Stalin suggested the "three" should meet in Berlin in "the very near future." I replied that I should be very glad to meet him and the President in what was left of the city, and that I hoped this meeting would take place about the middle of June.

About the same time as President Truman sent Mr. Davies to see me he had asked Harry Hopkins to go as his special envoy to Moscow to make another attempt to reach a working agreement on the Polish question. Although far from well, Hopkins, taking his bride with him, set out gallantly for Moscow. His friendship for Russia was well known, and he received a most friendly welcome. Certainly for the first time some progress was made.

Hopkins Moves to Break Deadlock

Stalin agreed to invite Mikolajczyk and two of his colleagues to Moscow from London for consultation, in conformity with our interpretation of the Yalta agreement. He also agreed to invite some important non-Lublin Poles from inside Poland.

In a telegram sent to me the President said he felt this was a very encouraging, positive step in the negotiations. Most of the arrested Polish leaders were apparently only charged with operating illegal radio transmitters, and Hopkins was pressing Stalin to grant them an amnesty so that consultations could be conducted in the most favorable atmosphere possible.

He asked me to urge Mikolajczyk to accept Stalin's invitation. Prime Minister to President Truman.

4 June 45.

"I agree with you that Hopkins' devoted efforts have produced a breaking of the deadlock. . . . I will therefore join with you, either jointly or separately, in a message to Stalin accepting the best that Hopkins can get, provided of course that our Ambassadors are not debarred from pressing for further improvements in the invitations once conversations have begun again."

President Suggests Bypass of Britain

The crux of what Mr. Davies had to propose was that the President should meet Stalin first somewhere in Europe before he saw me. I was indeed astonished at this suggestion. I had not liked the President's use in an earlier message of the term "ganging up" as applied to any meeting between him and me. Britain and the United States were united by bonds of principle and by agreement upon policy in many directions and we were both at profound difference with the Soviets on many of the greatest issues.

For the President and the British Prime Minister to talk together upon this common ground, as we had so often done in Roosevelt's day, could not now deserve the disparaging expression "ganging up." On the other hand, for the President to bypass Great Britain and meet the head of the Soviet State alone would have been, not indeed a case of "ganging up" for that was impossible—but an attempt to reach a single-handed understanding with Russia on the main issues upon which we and the Americans were united.

I would not agree in any circumstances to what seemed to be an affront, however unintentional, to our country after sumptions that the Polish problem has been solved or that the difficulties between the Western democracies and the Soviet Government on this matter have been more than relieved. Renewed hope and not rejoicing is all we can indulge in at the moment. . . . I sent Hopkins my congratulations. He replied: "The business here came off reasonably well and both Averell and I are very hopeful that at least some of these (Polish) prisoners are going to be sprung."

"I want you to know I have not the vaguest notion what the word 'amnesty' means, and I hope British Cabinet did not spend too much time debating this one. The only thing I ever said to Stalin was to let these poor Poles out of jail. If you should find out what technical definition of 'amnesty' is won't you please let me know."

New Polish Govt. Gets Recognition

I persuaded Mikolajczyk to go to Moscow and in the upshot a new Polish Provisional Government was set up. At Truman's request this was recognized by both Britain and the United States on July 5.

It is difficult to see what more we could have done. For five months the Soviets had fought every inch of the road. They had gained their object by delay. During all this time the Lublin Administration under Bierut, sustained by the might of the Russian armies, had given them a complete control of Poland, enforced by the usual deportations and liquidations.

They had denied us all the access for our observers which they had promised. All the Polish parties, except their own Communist puppets, were in a hopeless minority in the new recognised Polish Provisional Government.

We were as far as ever from any real and fair attempt to obtain the will of the Polish nation by free elections. There was still a hope—and it was the only hope—that the meeting the "Three," now impending would enable a genuine and honorable settlement to be achieved. So far only dust and ashes had been gathered and these are all that remain to us today of Polish national freedom.

HAPPY WITH DOG, CARDS, BEER

... $28,000 LEGACY UNWANTED

CLOVER, Ireland (Reuters)—Farmer Edmund English, 78, has a queer dilemma. His brother has died in New York and left him $28,000 that he does not want.

News of English's unwanted fortune arrived last week. He was sitting in a cottage playing cards with his friends and had just won fivepence (six cents). In walked a London lawyer.

The lawyer told him his 77-year-old brother, Maurice, from whom he had not heard for 45 years, had died in a New York hospital, leaving the money.

"I don't want to be bothered with it," English retorted. The Limerick farmer said Sunday: "I'm quite happy as it is, playing cards at a penny a go and drinking an occasional half-pint of beer. This money will be no good to me and my dog, Brownie."

Churchill Still Hopes To Meet Malenkov

British Leader Expected to Seek Approval Of Talks at Forthcoming Bermuda Parley

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill's plan for personal talks with Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov in Moscow is dominating all speculation here about the Bermuda conference next month.

British officials no longer deny reports that their prime minister has shelved his proposal for a Big Four meeting at the highest level.

Churchill would have raised this proposal at the scheduled Big Four meeting in July which was postponed because of his illness.

Now many officials feel Churchill, in an effort to salvage a piece of his plan, will seek the approval of President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel to "go it alone" to Moscow. This development is bound to color all the Bermuda discussions on the West's relations with the Communist world.

Churchill, a staunch defender of Anglo-American unity, would never make any move which he thought might jeopardize relations between the two English-speaking countries.

But the prime minister, who will be 79 next week, has long hoped that before his political career ends he can lead his country to permanent peace as he led it in war. He feels informal talks at the top level can do no damage and might help to chip the ice from East-West relations.

Preliminary exchanges among London, Paris and Washington last week show that relations with the Communists in the Far East will be a key subject at the Bermuda talks.

Florida Area Hit by Tornado

Small Community Nearly Wiped Out; Storms Roar in Louisiana

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP)—A tornado roaring like a freight train nearly wiped out a small Florida community Sunday. Two other storms struck in Louisiana.

Six houses were demolished and 21 persons injured when the twister hit Woodville, a community of 100 persons about 20 miles west of Panama City.

The two storms in southern Louisiana struck about 120 miles west of New Orleans.

Deputy Sheriff Eddie Breaux said 20 to 25 houses were destroyed when high winds swept across several plantations near Broussard, La. He reported some minor injuries.

Twelve families were left homeless on the Louis M. Bileaud plantation, one mile south-east of Broussard, when the winds hit there Saturday night.

The U. B. Landry plantation in neighboring St. Martin parish also suffered loss of tenant homes and farm buildings. Breaux said none of the winds in Louisiana was of tornadoic force.

The testimony, however, was in contradiction with a defense witness, also a psychiatrist, who said Hebert should be in hospital for treatment.

Crackdown On Drivers Gets Results

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police cracked down on pedestrians and motorists alike during the week-end in a continuing drive to halt the city's mounting toll of traffic deaths and injuries.

Aided by ghost cars and road-blocks, police arrested nine motorists on impaired driving charges and handed out a total of 148 traffic tickets Saturday.

Police said the crackdown appeared to be having the desired effect. Despite heavy rains that made streets slippery and dangerous, police said only 25 accidents had been reported, all of a minor nature.

A total of 37 traffic deaths have occurred on Vancouver streets so far this year, two more than in 1952.

Two Canadian Killers Refused New Trial

ALBANY, N.Y. (UP)—Two Canadian gunmen, convicted of a Buffalo jewelry store holdup murder, lost their appeal Saturday for a new trial.

The court of appeals unanimously affirmed the conviction of Maurice (Digger) O'Dell, 27, and Walter F. Griffen, 26, both of Hamilton, Ont., for the Dec. 9, 1952, slaying of Donald F. Hurd, in his main street store. O'Dell and Griffen were convicted May 1.

The high court gave no opinion. The two men will be executed the week of Jan. 4.

RUSSIA HELPS BRITAIN BEAT SPANIARDS

LONDON (Reuters)—Moscow radio said Friday that Russia helped Britain beat the Spanish Armada in 1588.

Russia contributed "quality rigging to the Royal Navy at very low cost," said an article in the Soviet English-language magazine News quoted by the radio.

These and other naval stores from Russia "played a considerable part in the rise of the British navy and merchant marine."

Royal Couple Due In Bermuda Tuesday

Holiday Island, Polished and Preened, Rehearses for Arrival of Queen and Duke

HAMILTON, Bermuda (Reuters)—This holiday island is polished, preened, and rehearsed today with everything ready for the arrival Tuesday of Queen Elizabeth on the first stop of her world-circling Commonwealth tour.

It will be the first visit by a reigning monarch in the colony's history.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh are due in by air at 10 a.m. Tuesday for a 20-hour stopover visit to the holiday island of about 360 islands and a mere 22 square miles.

Officials have gone through elaborate rehearsals of all official ceremonial and Saturday at last declared themselves satisfied that things will go without a hitch.

The couple will drive in an open car along most of a 24-mile route to give the people ample chance to see and cheer. But a coach and pair, the picturesque vehicle much beloved by tourists, also will be used.

The schedule for the visit is tight. Quite recently it was made even tighter by the addition of a brief call at the United States navy air station at the western end of the islands.

The United States Air Force base at the eastern end of the group will see the Queen when she arrives by special airliner after the overnight flight from London via Gander, Nfld.

Bermuda has been hoping for a boom season from Americans curious to see the royal couple. But hotel men now say that reservations are disappointing.

The day's schedule involves formal visits to the colonial parliament, a garden party and a state dinner. Then bed and an early morning takeoff for Jamaica.

ROYAL RENDEZVOUS

Gothic's Captain Crosses Fingers

LIVERPOOL (AP)—The 15,902-ton Ss. Gothic is steaming westward after months of hammering and welding to make the gleaming luxury liner a ship fit for a Queen on a world tour.

And the Gothic's skipper, 61-year-old Capt. David Aitchison, has his fingers crossed.

For the Gothic, pride of the Australia run, will take aboard the Queen and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, Thursday at Kingston, Jamaica, one day after the Queen and the Duke arrive by air from Britain, for their journey to Australia and New Zealand.

The trim and graceful cargo liner which normally carries about 85 passengers in her luxurious cabins, will sail through the Panama Canal to the Pacific. For five months the Queen and her husband and the host of servants and officials with them will make their home aboard the ship.

It's the third time the Gothic has been picked to take royalty on the Australian trip. The first time—in 1949—the voyage was canceled when King George VI had an operation on his leg. In February, 1952, the Gothic was waiting at Mombasa, Kenya, for the Queen—then Princess Elizabeth—to come aboard and travel to Australia in her father's place. The trip was canceled by the sudden death of the King.

It took three months to convert the five-year-old Gothic into a Royal ship back in 1949. Most of the Royal apartments have remained locked ever since.

In 1949, workmen grafted an extra seven feet on the Gothic's funnel—just to make sure no smoke would blow in royalty's face. They tore out bulkheads and built extensions on to the promenade deck to make airy windowed cabins aft for the King and Queen, and converted two passenger suites into Royal night cabins.

The Queen's entourage, which will number about 85, will have to occupy cabins used by ordinary passengers on normal voyages. Their offices will be cubby-holes built into the children's playroom. Their lounge will be the ship's plush veranda cafe.

When the Queen steps aboard the ship Thursday, she will be conducted to her suite on the ship's starboard side. By an old sea custom, important passengers are always given starboard quarters.

The color scheme throughout the ship is pink and green—pink for the Royal lounge and the Queen's night cabin, green for her day cabin.

Fog, Dredge to Keep CP Ships in Port

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railway coastwise ships will remain at their berths during foggy weather while a dredge is operating in the First Narrows, the company announced today.

The decision could leave Victoria and the Gulf Islands without direct connection with the mainland, and Nanaimo with only Black Ball Ferry service (Departure Bay to Horseshoe Bay). The action will paralyze 80,000 tons of shipping per day and movement of hundreds of passengers during fog. A company official said requests have been made recently to have the dredge, with its tug, scow and mooring buoys removed from the "hazardous position" while murky weather cuts visibility.

A Union Steamships Company official said his organization is considering similar action. Officials of both companies blamed the dredge for a near-tragedy in First Narrows on Oct. 23, when CPR's Princess Elizabeth crashed head-on into Union's Ss. Cardenia, tearing a 35-foot hole in her bow.

96 of 100 Messages Congratulate Truman

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Harry Truman glanced at a stack of telegrams and letters in his Kansas City office the other day and said "the score is 96 to 4."

A broad grin crept across his face.

The messages, more than 4,000 of them, he said, came to the office following his television statement last Monday on the Harry Dexter White case. Truman said Attorney-General Herbert Brownell "lied" in his description of the ex-president's part in the case.

Truman told his audience:

"And in saying 'Harry Dexter White was known to be a Communist spy by the very people who appointed him' he (Brownell) lied to the American people. In backing away from his charge with the mealy-mouthed statement that he had no intention of impugning the loyalty of any high official of the prior administration, he lied to the American people again."

HIGHLY FAVORABLE

Talking about the messages, Truman said: "We haven't got all these communications, sorted yet; they're still coming in. But that's the way it's running: 96 per cent favorable."

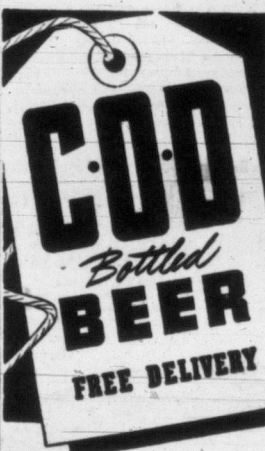

"I'll say this," he added, answering a question, "I'm satisfied that the television talk served its purpose."

The purpose, he had said, was "to set the record straight." Also, he went on, one of his aims was set forth in the talk itself. He said, "you read the second to last paragraph."

That paragraph goes:

"If this sordid, deliberate and unprecedented attack on the loyalty of a former President of the United States will serve to alert the people to the terrible danger that our nation and each citizen faces, then it will arouse you to fight this evil at every level in our national life. I hope this may serve to stir the conscience of the present administration itself."

A political advertisement of November 20, appearing in the Victoria newspapers, is a perfect example of the endless stream of fatuous insinuations being made in this election campaign.

It insinuates a great lack of confidence in our government and an indication of a break in our Social Credit movement, because of our absence on the platform.

I, William Chant, have just returned from Alberta where I was summoned to the bedside of my little grandchild who was stricken with polio. Now I am working on behalf of Mr. Gunderson.

I, Lydia Arsens, have been working daily and constantly on behalf of Mr. Gunderson, both from home and at the Social Credit headquarters

It is a pleasure and an honor to work on behalf of our highly esteemed Minister of Finance.

Your bills come to me addressed to HUAH Spatz. My name is HUGH. You have taken a "G" away from me, and given me an "A" that I neither need nor want.

You may feel that since you have replaced my "G" with an "A" you have made a fair exchange, and that I should be satisfied.

Let me point out to you that this is not as trivial as it may seem. If I were to do the same to you (which surely would be fair) you would then become, to me at least, the East Ohio Ass Co.

Professor F. H. Soward, director of international studies at the University of British Columbia, will discuss Canada's responsibilities in Asia in a lecture under auspices of the University Extension Association to night at 8:15 p.m. in the Victoria College auditorium.

J. E. Carey, president of the Esquimalt Celebrations Association, was presented with a bouquet of carrots and celery leaves at a turkey dinner Saturday to honor oldest members of the organization. The group was started six years ago. Twenty-seven persons attended the dinner held in Esquimalt Community Hall.

SOCREDS STAND ALOOF

Premier Bennett, as soon as the news came out, called radio station CKDA to say that the Social Credit party has no knowledge of the affair.

The premier added: "As premier of the province, I wish to advise all the electors of Victoria that it is my sincere belief that each and every one of the five candidates are fine, honest people. Any one of them would make a good representative for the city of Victoria. I ask you not to believe in any last-minute stories regarding any of them."

Whitworth, Stenbury, vice-president of the Social Credit League, also denied any party inspiration for the suit.

He said: "I first heard of this matter when Mr. Gregory phoned me Friday evening. After speaking with Mr. Langley I was able to assure Mr. Gregory that this is purely a personal matter between the two of them and not in any way political."

LANGLEY EXPLAINS
Mr. Langley, who has been active in the Socred movement and working hard for Mr. Gunderson, said: "It will all come out after the election."

He said he'd had a lot of phone calls from Social Crediters about it and was surprised it had turned into "a Social Credit persecution."

The Socreds, he insisted, didn't know the first thing about it.

He termed the linking of the writ and politics "slanted publicity."

"It has just been turned into a channel to assist Mr. Gregory," he said.

(Mr. Langley's own press release was turned into newspaper offices only a short while after he had personally served the writ on Mr. Gregory.)

Mr. Langley also reiterated his demand for an investigation into the Pemberton home fire—a demand he included in his press release about the Gregory lawsuit.

Mr. Gregory commented: "I am delighted to hear that the Socreds, from the premier on down, have officially disowned such tactics. I feel confident that the public had already arrived at the same conclusion."

MISSING HUNTER

which he has disappeared again a week ago Saturday. He found his own way out.

Married, with a son aged four, Murray is described as slightly built but in good health. Neighbor Sidney Bentley, 74 Crease, who accompanied Murray on the Saturday trip, said "he is no greenhorn in the woods."

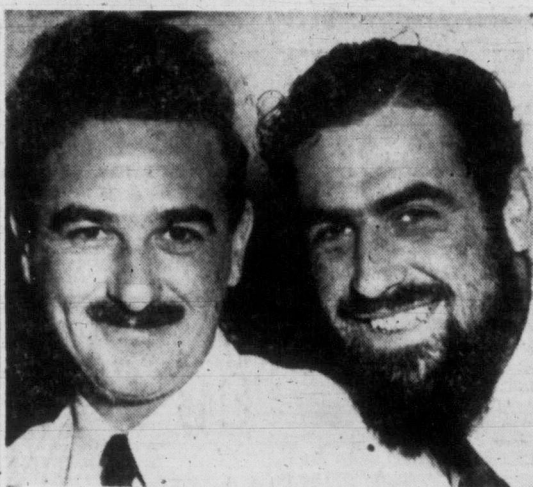

The pair drove west on the Elder Logging Company road early Saturday to a point about nine miles west of Sooke where they hunted all morning. They hunted at Murray's car at noon, then hunted again.

Bentley said they became separated around 1 p.m. but he did not become apprehensive until "around four." Hiking to the road, he met two other hunters, Buster Monk and Wilf Graham. The three men made a search, then drove into Sooke in Monk's car for police assistance.

"Monk fired a whole box of shells, hoping Ron would answer," said Bentley. He praised Monk for returning to the search with Sooke RCMP Constable P. Humphries and remaining in the woods all night to feed beacon fires.

Expert woodsmen among searchers feel Murray could likely survive his 48 hours in the wilderness without food. But the rough terrain is a constant threat.

Bus Stops Kept Clear As Police Crack Down

Drivers' Complaints Against Illegal Parking Bears Fruit; Police Active

A campaign launched by B.C. Electric bus drivers to keep bus stops clear for buses has met with initial success.

A check made early this afternoon revealed no record of any unauthorized vehicle being parked in a bus stop so far today.

During the week-end, bus drivers, through their union, served notice that starting today they would not stop their buses if bus zones were occupied by unauthorized vehicles.

The union, in newspaper advertisements, said drivers no longer would take the risk of double parking or poking into the curb at dangerous angles.

The union said drivers were taking direct action "due to insufficient co-operation on the part of those with the necessary authority to clear up the problem of bus loading zones becoming crowded with private automobiles and commercial trucks."

'CRACKING DOWN'

Police Chief John Blackstock said his force was doing all it could to keep bus stops clear and was, in fact, "cracking down" on all motorists and pedestrians violating traffic rules.

"We are receiving too many complaints of traffic violations," the chief said.

The B.C. Electric has made no move to endorse or oppose the action of their drivers' union. E. W. Arnott, company vice-president, did write to city council last week, however, noting that bus operators had complained to him about the number of unauthorized vehicles left in bus stops. He asked the city for stricter enforcement of its by-laws.

City solicitor Arthur Patton said today the city had done everything it was required to do under its 1947 transportation agreement with the company.

CITY LAWS CLEAR

"The city has established adequate zones and has passed the necessary by-law prohibiting use of bus stops by any other vehicles," Mr. Patton said.

Mr. Patton noted that while the company's franchise called for buses to stop at designated stops for the purposes of allowing passengers to get on and off, another section specified that in providing service for the public neither the company nor the city was to do anything that was not "safe."

"Buses are supposed to stop at bus stops," he said. "But if the driver thinks it's not safe to stop, then he could claim he was within his rights not to stop."

Mr. Patton observed a bus driver or any other citizen could have an erring motorist summoned by taking down the license number, noting the time and date of the offense and reporting it to police.

"That is the course open to them," he said. "But it seems they don't want to do that."

Shop-Breakers Pocket Cash, Gorge on Candy

Thieves broke into Welch's Candy Shop on Fort Street Saturday and stole $85 in petty cash and a box of chocolates.

The theft was discovered by city police Sunday morning. The thieves gained entry by breaking the panel of a rear door and unlatching a Yale lock.

No attempt was made to break into a safe in the store, police said.

Resident Since 1906, Miss Minnie Herd Dies

Miss Minnie Herd, a resident of Victoria since 1906, died Saturday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Miss Herd, born in Stratford, Ont., was predeceased by three sisters. She was well known in this city as one of the founders of the "Hat Shop," and as a charter member of the Queen City Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. at Sands mortuary, with interment in the family plot at Ross Bay.

Sea's Fury Foiled in Five-Hour Coast Battle

By TONY DICKASON

The "Anything That Floats Delivered Anywhere Co." came close to being liquidated over the week-end.

The company, which consists of bearded 27-year-old John Hoskins of Redding, England, and mustached 28-year-old Walter Parkington of Vancouver, was extremely unhappy but frantically busy Saturday night.

The company floated alright, but barely.

The young mariners were on a trip from Jarvis Inlet to Victoria when their 46-foot boat "Trial Island" was sucked into the teeth of a 50-mile-an-hour gale between James and Discovery islands.

International yachtsmen, who have bucked wind and tide in many of the seven seas, they were of the same opinion. "This episode was as close as anything we have ever seen."

The two have been in the boat delivery business three years. Their services include two Atlantic crossings and, last year, a 1,000-mile cruise in an 18-foot sailboat in the West Indies.

About 7 p.m. Saturday when the gale hit the open boat the engine conked out in swamping seas. They bailed with everything they had—pots, pans, "our hands." The two bilge pumps clogged.

Parkington, who knows this area thoroughly, said: "We were stuck in the worst bit of water around the islands."

The high wind carried the boat and the furiously working pair close to the shore of Vancouver Island. Rocks loomed.

Like an omen, an unusual phenomenon appeared, a rarely seen lunar rainbow.

The gale hauled around from southwest to southeast, carrying the boat away from the dangerous shoreline.

But the force did not abate. The pair bailed frantically and managed to hoist a canvas ground-sheet as a sail. Their mast was an oar. This left one oar with which to steer.

Around midnight the vessel lurched into the east sea of

James Island. Groggy with fatigue, Parkington and Hoskins, crawled into a watchman's shack for the night.

The boat is owned by R. G. Parkington of Victoria, brother of Walter, who had intended to bring her from Jarvis Inlet alone.

"Anything That Floats Delivered Anywhere Co." is transferring its base of operations to New Zealand. Mr. Hoskins is leaving Thursday, and his salt-water partner, Walter, will join him shortly.

The pair have delivered many boats from England to the continent. Mr. Hoskins is a merchant marine veteran, and his companion an ex-RCN sailor.

Gale-Torn Oak Branch Pierces Boy's Bedroom

Storm Tragedy Close to Oak Bay Home; New Blow Threatening Victoria Area

A home in Oak Bay, and a group of fishing shacks west of Sooke, suffered the chief damage over the week-end in two storms which hit the city with a one-two punch and winds of 60 miles an hour.

A third storm is now building up that could be as strong as the others, weatherman William Mackie said today.

Gale warnings have been issued for all coastal waters, he said, and 40-mile winds are expected here after midnight.

C. H. Rutman, 1167 St. David Street, reported heavy damage done to his home Sunday at 10:20 a.m. when a huge limb was ripped from an oak tree and hurled against his roof.

One branch was driven like a spear into the bedroom of his older son, Charles, 17, just missing the bed by inches.

Residents of the area, claiming the combination of high wind and tide was "the worst in 50 years," said giant waves rolled into Orvis Bay and threw huge logs across the highway.

"Chuck was lucky," Mr. Rutman said today. "Yesterday was the first Sunday in years he hasn't slept in until noon. He left his room 20 minutes before the accident."

Moderate to heavy damage was done to about 25 fishing shacks by heavy breakers crashing on Gordon's Beach, on the Jordan River road, Sunday afternoon. Numerous boats also suffered damage.

Residents of the area, claiming the combination of high wind and tide was "the worst in 50 years," said giant waves rolled into Orvis Bay and threw huge logs across the highway.

Several of the beach cabins were thrown from their foundations, porches of many were badly battered, and the rear wall of one cabin was shattered when the whole cabin was slammed against a tree.

Only one beach home was occupied at the time. Although the residents evacuated in the face of the charging water, little damage was done.

One incident reported in the city was the collapse Sunday under heavy wind of the revolving door at the south entrance of the Empress Hotel. Temporary protection was provided.

Some scaffolding outside the T. Eaton Co. store at View and Broad Streets was blown down Saturday night and some live wires were exposed.

Up-island telephone communications were broken, and long-distance calls Saturday night had to be re-routed through Vancouver.

Elsewhere the heavy hand of the storm caused no serious trouble.

B.C. Electric officials said damage was negligible, considering the wind speed.

Local Scots to See Brigadoon on Ice

There will be kilts in the audience as well as on the performers when Ice Cycles of 1954, famed touring ice show plays at the Memorial Arena, Jan. 5 to 9.

Feature attraction of the show this year is an adaption of the Broadway musical "Brigadoon."

Because of the Scottish background of the production, special arrangements are being made by the arena management to bring out city Scots in force.

Joe Dukowski, manager of local ice centre, says he hopes to arrange with Scottish societies here for a grand march to the opening show complete with pipers.

"Brigadoon," according to the musical written by Lerner and Loewe, was the name of a Scottish village.

By divine intervention brought about by prayers of the village minister, the village vanished from the earth, reappearing for one day every hundred years.

The minister reasoned that being so little in touch with the world the villagers could not be corrupted by it.

Two modern hunters stumbled on Brigadoon during its second day of existence, 200 years after it vanished.

About 120 kilts skaters take it from there.

The ice show includes nine other colorful acts of comedy, romance and precision drills.

Three Manitobans
Traffic Victims

WINNIPEG (CP)—Three persons died violently in Manitoba during the week-end.

Peter Pawluk, 17, of Kirksburg died in hospital after the car he was driving was hit by a CPR train 2 1/2 miles east of Lockport.

John Shepit, 38, of Gardenton was fatally injured when hit by a car in Gardenton, and Mrs. Mildred Ching, 50, of Portage la Prairie died after being hit by a car.

Don Jose Now 'At Liberty'

CHICAGO (UP)—David Poleri was fired by the New York Civic Opera Co. Saturday night when Poleri, singing the part of Don Jose, shouted, "Finish the opera yourself."

With that, he stalked off the stage and left Carmen, sung by Gloria Lane, unattended. Miss Lane concluded her own performance resourcefully by tumbling to the floor as if dying of natural causes.

The falcon has a sharp tooth and notch on its beak which enables the bird to cut its meat with a swift stroke instead of tearing it.

Two Saskatchewan
Men Die in Crash

REGINA (CP)—Two Yorkton, Sask., undertakers, Wilfred Larson and Albert Fiset, 17, were killed Saturday when the hearse in which they were returning from a funeral collided with a car about 30 miles north-west of Yorkton.

John E. Popowich, 42, of Jeddburgh, Sask., driver of the car, his wife and five children escaped injury.

RCMP are investigating. An inquest was ordered.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1953

Carroll's Individual 16-page ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST for December is now ready. For your copy send 25c with stamped, self-addressed envelope for each forecast to Victoria Daily Times, 2302 Douglas Street, Victoria, B.C.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)

Keep disgruntled associates away from home, or tense situation quickly builds up. Then big chance arises to sit down with family members and explain your affection, arrange future aims in details.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)

Get away from dreary duties or your resentment can cause breakage, damage, spoilage that is quite unnecessary. Make definite agreements; then be co-operative with all.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)

Spending considerable sum on pleasures would lessen assets for soon-to-be desired worthwhile expenditures. Instead, pitch in and get routine chores behind you to free valuable time later.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)

Leave the house early to avoid strange goings-on which your presence could cause. P.M. go to places of amusement; charm others with your devotion. Be happy!

LEO (July 22 to August 21)

Keep objective despite secret concern that tempts you to be rash in speech and deed. Day is fine, otherwise, for strict attention to home, family, property matters.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22)

Being too stirred up about money matters keeps you from retaining friendly attitude. Instead, get together with friends, helping them secure their ambitions.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)

Battle with authority, early, is most unwise. Use much care to avoid arguments with anyone. Instead, keep plugging away at financial responsibilities with sense of justice. Budget for holidays.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)

Use much care on highway, or accident could happen that would limit you for some time. Make sure you seek information useful to you from newspapers, magazines, all available sources.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)

Side reason to make it a friend who, upset at his or her own mistakes, lashes out at others. Instead, quietly arrange better ways to be successful in money, romantic interests.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)

Taking any chance with officials brings you quick reprimands that lower your standing, so be your tactful, diplomatic self. Get together in intelligent discussions with friends, companions.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)

Overeagerness to get away from usual haunts, chores is best utilized in studying improved methods for attention to your obligations, daily duties. This impresses highly.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20)

Keep firm hand on money associate or concerned or big mistake is made. See to it that you entertain newcomers in your life who can give you fresh boost upward.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TUESDAY

Tuesday's child is one of those very interesting youngsters who think it is necessary to fight to obtain ambitions, but your progeny is susceptible to explanation and accomplishment to be explained with co-operation and consideration for the other fellow. Then your intelligent youngster will put all that force in constructive avenues of expression. Always appeal to the practical good judgment present in this Sagittarian's Chart.

ST. LAURENT URGES CANADIAN UNITY AND MUTUAL RESPECT

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Saturday there is no longer any question of assimilation of French and English-speaking groups in Canada.
For years, he told the St. Jean Baptiste Society, Canadians of French descent had formed organizations devoted to assuring French survival. Now survival was no longer endangered and activities of these organizations could be devoted to fostering French-Canadian culture.
The Prime Minister urged greater mutual respect and esteem between Canada's two official language groups.

Prominent Social Worker Dies at New Westminster

Active in military, hospital, church and social circles, Mrs. Marie MacKenzie, wife of Dr. H. H. MacKenzie, New Westminster, died in hospital in New Westminster Friday after a lengthy illness.
She was the daughter of the late Chief Justice Neil MacLeod of Summerside, P.E.I., former premier of the island province, and the late Mrs. Adele MacLeod, of 59 Howe Street, Victoria.
Born in Summerside, she graduated from Acadia University and from Boston General Hospital. She served overseas with the Canadian Nursing Service, received the Mons Medal and was Mentioned in Despatches.
She was married in London, England, settled in Nelson, B.C., and took up residence in New Westminster in 1941.
In Nelson she was past president of the Women's Canadian Club and the Kootenay Lake General Hospital; also past regent of the IOOE, Nelson chapter. In New Westminster she was active in Queen's Avenue United Church.
Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

Island Hospital Representatives Hold Conference

Hospital management problems were highlighted at a conference Saturday at Royal Jubilee Hospital with 83 administrative delegates from Island hospitals present.
Medical records kept were generally a mirror of hospital efficiency, said Dr. A. J. Brunet, medical superintendent of St. Joseph's Hospital. He said such records were proof that treatment received by patients was justified.
Other speakers were James Mainguy, B.C.H.S. hospital inspector; Donald M. Cox, B.C.H.S. assistant commissioner; and J. C. Thow, chairman of the Royal Jubilee board of directors.
Dr. E. W. Boak, representing the B.C. Medical Association, was among those attending.
A. E. Stubbs of Chemainus was chairman.

Theatre Guild's Cast Well Chosen

Victoria Theatre Guild opened Saturday with its second production of the season, "The Lady Asks for Help."

Also featured are Jack Rowe, Jennie-Mae Sawyer, Charles Martin and Len Robinson.
R. L. W. Ritchie is director.
The play runs all this week at Langham Court Theatre.

Leading in aggregate points after seven races is Peter Young with 10,430. Following him are Tim Heiberg, 10,333; Ned Ashe, 9,824; Jack Korman, 9,534.

Two Sarnia Men Die In Crash of Plane

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Two men were killed Sunday when their light Chipmunk plane crashed in a field about seven miles from the Windsor Flying Club field here.
Dead are Henry Scholtens, the pilot, and Paul Helmut Petzold, 24, both of Sarnia, Ont.
Flying club officials said the engine of the aircraft apparently failed before the plane crashed. Scholtens was dead when witnesses reached the crash scene. Petzold died in hospital.

DO NOT BE MISLED BY FALSE PROPAGANDA OF THE POLITICAL MACHINES

The Liberal candidate persistently makes the false claim that the Equalization of Assessment Act will raise your property taxes for school purposes by 10%

THIS IS A DELIBERATE FALSEHOOD

The truth is—the net result of this Act will be to reduce taxation for school purposes on the individual home owner and land owner by approximately 25%.

Heavy Vote For Tito in Yugoslavia

10,000 Endorse
President's Policy

BELGRADE (AP)—Yugoslavia's 10,000,000 eligible voters turned out in force Sunday to register their endorsement of the policies of President Tito's Communist government.

The outcome was certain. Under a new election system adopted this year, the voters could take their choice between balloting for candidates presented by the "Socialistic Alliance of the Working People of Yugoslavia" or voting against the government. No parties opposed the Communist-dominated "alliance."

Final results will not be disclosed officially until Wednesday.

On the basis of semi-official reports the voting was heavy. Approximately 90 per cent or more of the eligible voters deposited ballots early. In Belgrade, about 83 per cent had voted by 2 p.m. In towns along the Dalmatian coast, where the government was particularly anxious to register support in view of Italy's claims at Trieste, the vote was even heavier. Less than 5 per cent of the voters were expected to register opposition to government policies.

Tito, in the first national election since 1950, asked approval not only of his administration's resistance to Russian domination, but also of his stubborn stand against the Anglo-American decision to turn the strategic Adriatic seaport of Trieste over to Italy.

Domestic problems might produce some opposition, among them the government's failure to deal adequately with a serious housing problem and with its seizure of farm land after abandoning its policy of forced collectivization.

Falling Prices, Mounting Food Stocks Worry UN Body

ROME (AP)—The Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) said Saturday that falling prices and mounting stocks of unsold food, particularly in North America, threaten to widen the gap between the world's few well-fed and the many hungry.

On the eve of a three-week conference of the 68-nation United Nations organization, it disclosed that its latest surveys show a trend back to "the dilemma of the '30's, with excess food co-existing with hunger."

Its experts urged that "a more selective approach to agricultural expansion" quickly replace the present policy of mere over-all increasing of food output.

The delegates will study one of the most optimistic sets of figures yet published by FAO.

They show that for the first time since the war, world total food production has slightly passed the world's increase in population—meaning that, per capita, there is a little more to eat.

Forecasts through 1956-57 indicate this gradual increase will continue at a reduced rate.

But FAO says that:

1. The last year's gains are not distributed to meet the needs of the hungry.

2. The forecasts are not based on FAO figures, but on national program estimates, in many cases unlikely to be achieved.

The production increases did not come from parts of the world where hunger is the greatest, nor in proportion to rapid increases in population in some sections.

Lost Hunter Object of Southern Island's Biggest Manhunt

Object of biggest manhunt in South Vancouver Island history is city hunter Ronald Murray, 30, missing in dense, wooded area since 1 p.m. Saturday.

Posted at crossroads of logging road 10 miles north of Sooke, old soldier Charles L. Weaver of Otter Point, directed carloads of volunteers who sought to find missing hunter on Sunday. Ronald Murray has not been seen in 48 hours.

Wide Search For City Man Lost 2 Days

PEARSON SEEN LINKED WITH SPY RING

Ottawa Blackmailed Over Gouzenko—Star

TORONTO (CP)—The Star says in a newspaper story from Ottawa that the Canadian government meets today to decide whether Igor Gouzenko should be questioned by the U.S. Senate internal security committee "in the full knowledge that it (the government) is being blackmailed."

"It is recognized here that within a matter of days or weeks the Canadian secretary of state for external affairs, Hon. Lester B. Pearson, may be named by the U.S. committee as one of three Canadians accused of supplying information to a Communist spy ring during the latter part of the war."

"The government can only guess whether the committee intends to use this accusation, made at a secret session of the committee in August, 1951, regardless of how it answers the committee's renewed requests for permission to question Gouzenko."

"All evidence points to the conclusion, however, that the committee is using the Gouzenko affair as a build-up to a fantastic and sordid smear of Mr. Pearson."

WINCHELL COMMENTS
NEW YORK (CP)—Radio commentator Walter Winchell in the course of his broadcast Sunday night said:

"The Canadian government's refusal to permit Igor Gouzenko to help the U.S. Senate sub-committee may embarrass the famous Canadian holding it up. Senator Jenner, sub-committee chairman, may be forced to make public sworn testimony involving Lester Pearson."

REPLY EXPECTED
OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government is expected to reply today or Tuesday to a United States request that the United States Senate internal security sub-committee be permitted to question Igor Gouzenko.

External Affairs Minister Pearson, who had planned to spend the week-end in New York, returned here Saturday to frame the Canadian government's reply.

Mr. Gouzenko, former cipher clerk in the Russian embassy here, supplied the tip-off which uncovered a Soviet spy ring in Canada in 1946. He now lives under RCMP protection in an undisclosed Ontario town with his wife and two children.

Ron Murray Missing On Hunting Trip

By PETE LOUDON

Truckloads of troops and private cars filled with volunteer searchers continued to pour into the Muir River area nine miles west of Sooke this morning, seeking a city hunter now missing almost 48 hours.

It is the greatest search operation in the history of lower Vancouver Island. It is estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 men are plodding shoulder to shoulder through dense, rain-soaked thickets in search of Ronald Murray, 30, of 85 Crease Street. He was last seen by a hunting companion at 1 p.m. Saturday.

At one point during the morning, there was sudden hope that Murray was nearby. Three gunshots were heard at 11:30 in an area about 10 miles north of where the main search was being conducted. Constable P. Humphries led a group into the remote area but returned shortly after 1 this afternoon to announce the shots were fired by other searchers who had become separated from the main group.

Bloodhounds and an army mobile canteen have been moved into the desolate, canyon-split area. So far not a trace of the missing man has been found. Search is directed by RCMP and South Vancouver Island Rangers, who have been out since early Sunday morning and are still on the job.

WORKMEN HELP
Hundreds of sailors and soldiers joined the hunt this morning. RCMP Sgt. Whittaker said a private plane will join the giant search operation.

A large crew of workers from HMC Dockyard, where the missing man is employed as a boiler-maker, left their machines early this morning to aid in the search.

Roads leading from the Elder Logging Company camp are clogged with an estimated 600 private cars.

Soldiers are from 119-AA and 129-AA batteries, Work Point. The search extends nine miles north of the logging camp.

At noon today Sgt. Whittaker requested RCMP at Victoria to discourage any further volunteers today. As one searcher put it: "There is already a man for every tree out here."

Loggers who know the area well fear some of the searchers may, themselves, become lost.

SON IS FOUR
The missing man wandered six hours in the same area in which he has disappeared again a week ago Saturday. He found his own way out.

Married with a son aged four, Murray is described as slightly built but in good health. Neighbor Sidney Bentley, 74 Crease, who accompanied Murray on the Saturday trip, said "he is no greenhorn in the woods."

The pair drove west on the Elder Logging Company road early Saturday to a point about nine miles west of Sooke where they hunted all morning. They lunched at Murray's car at noon, then hunted again.

Bentley said they became separated around 1 p.m. but he did not become apprehensive until "around four." Hiking to the road, he met two other hunters, Buster Monk and Wilf Graham. The three men made a search, then drove into Sooke in Monk's car for police assistance.

"Monk fired a whole box of shells hoping Ron would answer," said Bentley. He praised Monk for returning to the search with Sooke RCMP Constable P. Humphries and remaining in the woods all night to feed beacon fires.

Bentley returned home to rest before leading a 100-man search party into the area Sunday.

DOGS FAIL
Constable Humphries organized a volunteer group of loggers and South Vancouver Island Rangers under Gordon Sword. The Rangers brought in two bloodhounds, but no trace of the missing man could be found.

Diversions in the search were ordered at noon Sunday when shots were reported a few miles west of the main operation. But all parties were recalled with the coming of dark except for skeleton crews who maintained fires until dawn today.

The area has been beset by rains and high winds and the underbrush thoroughly soaked over the week-end.

Expert woodsmen among searchers feel Murray could likely survive his 48 hours in the wilderness without food. But the rough terrain is a constant threat.

Record Vote Forecast Despite Storm Threat

Victorians Mark Ballots Tomorrow

By GORDON FORBES
Times Legislative Reporter

Victorians will go to the polls Tuesday amid rain and wind but observers are still predicting a record turnout of electors for a by-election.

The weatherman today forecast gale-force winds and rain tonight, rain tomorrow morning and a "few showers" in the afternoon. "It'll be unsettled weather—just about as unsettled as the election campaign."

The by-election is being held in an effort to find a seat for Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, who was defeated in Oak Bay by Liberal P. A. Gibbs in June. Percy Wright, elected So-called MLA last June, resigned to allow the minister to contest the seat.

The biggest factor in drawing the voters out, it is expected, has been the campaign itself. It's been a scorcher—by election standards—and the heat has been kindled in many ways.

The campaign started out quietly and became more robust as candidates roared each other, party leaders hurled charges back and forth with great abandon.

The ugly word "falsehood" became commonplace, candidates compared war records, newspapers were accused of story-slanting and distortion, and radio blasted forth hourly with charges and counter-charges.

Old-timers, although deploring the mud-slinging, said the campaign smacked of some of the electioneering of the early days in B.C., when an election was the signal for the no-holds barred type of politicking.

The campaign will wind up tonight at Royal Theatre with a good, old-fashioned, all-candidate debate on the government's record.

George Wheaton, president of the Chamber of Commerce, will be chairman.

A packed house is anticipated in the 1,500-seat theatre. Manager Cliff Denham said the doors will open at 7 p.m. and will be closed as soon as the regulation seating is full.

Advance voting was light. Only 129 persons voted at the YMCA Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Plane Missing On Mercy Flight
EDMONTON (BUP)—A light plane carrying three persons including a dangerously ill polio patient from Grande Prairie to Edmonton disappeared late Sunday and the RCAF began an around-the-clock search for it.

Bill Reay Fined $100
Billy Reay, coach of Victoria Cougars in the Western Hockey League, was fined $100 today for pushing a referee, according to an Associated Press report from Seattle.

League president Al Leader, who levied the fine, said Reay pushed referee Ross Morrow in Sunday night's game with Seattle, which the Cougars lost 3-4.

Harry Langley Writ Against Gregory Personal Matter, Plaintiff Maintains

Social Credit Party spokesmen over the week-end dissociated the party from a lawsuit brought by a prominent Social Credit supporter, Harry Langley, against the firm in which George Gregory, Liberal candidate, is a partner.

Mr. Langley himself, after learning what a future this action had caused, insisted it was a personal matter, although he had taken the extraordinary course of issuing a signed press release. This announced that he had issued the writ and was also demanding an investigation into a fire that burned down the house concerned in the lawsuit.

In his lawsuit Mr. Langley is claiming damages for what he calls "negligence" by Mr. Gregory's law firm in a transaction which took place over four years ago concerning the old Pemberton estate.

He personally delivered the writ to Mr. Gregory after the courthouse closed for business Friday. Then he issued the press statement.

Queen, Duke Leave On Six-Month Tour

Royal Couple Winging Across Atlantic On Historic Trip; Newfoundland First Stop

LONDON (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh departed on their globe-circling tour of 14 Commonwealth countries at 9 o'clock (1 p.m., PST), tonight, cheered on by hundreds of spectators gathered at London airport.

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth II gave her children a mother's last-minute advice today as Buckingham Palace bustled with final preparations for her departure tonight on the longest tour ever made by a ruling sovereign in history.

For six months, the beautiful 27-year-old Queen and her husband, the handsome Duke of Edinburgh, will inspect the far-flung Empire on which the sun never sets.

They will cover more than 50,000 miles on the royal tour, open six parliaments, attend 50 state balls, dinners and other functions and hold 135 receptions.

Elizabeth and her husband have spent all of their spare time with their children—Princess Anne, 3, and Prince Charles, the sturdy five-year-old who will some day be king—the past few days.

It was estimated, too, that 10,000,000 Britshers would watch the Queen's journey to the airport on their television screens.

Tightest security conditions will prevail through the Queen's long tour. Special police will watch the British Overseas Airways stratoscruiser "Canopus" which will carry the couple to Newfoundland on the first Atlantic flight by a British sovereign.

Five warships—the destroyers Agincourt, Aisne, Corunna and Barrosa and the Canadian frigate Micmac—will be stationed along the route from London to Gander to watch the royal crossing.

In addition, two Canadian Lancasters will escort the Canopus on the last 900 miles of the trans-Atlantic flight.

The timetable called for the Canopus to take off at 8:45 p.m. landing at Gander for refueling at 3:45 a.m. local time and then proceeding to Bermuda, arriving at 10 a.m.

On Wednesday the royal couple will go to Jamaica and on Friday they will board the liner Gothic for the Fiji Islands.

6-Day Shopping Week Vote Withdrawn

City Council decided this afternoon to withdraw a referendum on the question of keeping Victoria's stores open six days a week.

A council ruled last week that the question should be put to the voters here because it was being done in Vancouver.

Vancouver changed its mind; and so did Victoria.

Hiss Loses Second Parole Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alger Hiss today lost a second plea for parole from prison.

"The board of parole today automatically reconsidered the parole application of Alger Hiss and agreed there should be no change in the previous order of denial of parole."

Denies Pearson Will Be Named

WASHINGTON (AP)—An aide to the Senate internal security sub-committee today denied it plans to name L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, as having fed wartime information to a Communist spy ring.

"No such thing is contemplated," Robert Morris, the sub-committee's chief counsel, said. "It has never been contemplated."

Morris commented on a story published by the Toronto Star which said the sub-committee might name Pearson "as one of three Canadians accused of supplying information to a Communist spy ring" late in the Second World War.

U.K., Iran Move Towards Agreement

LONDON (AP)—Britain and Iran were reported today moving closer to diplomatic reconciliation and a new effort to settle their oil dispute.

The British move took the form of a personal message sent by Foreign Secretary Eden to Premier Fazollah Zahedi.

Rubber Companies Fined $170,000

TORONTO (CP)—Seven rubber companies and the Rubber Association of Canada were fined a total of $170,000 today on charges of operating a rubber combine.

Mr. Justice W. F. Schroeder handed down his decision today. The companies pleaded guilty to the charges last week.

Bill Reay Fined $100

Billy Reay, coach of Victoria Cougars in the Western Hockey League, was fined $100 today for rushing a referee, according to an Associated Press report from Seattle.

League president Al Leader, who levied the fine, said Reay pushed referee Ross Morrow in Sunday night's game with Seattle, which the Cougars lost 3-0.

RCAF officials in Vancouver told the Times this afternoon that Miss Burton had been placed in detention at Sea Island Sunday, and would be charged with desertion.

She will be held in detention pending an Ottawa decision on her case.

An air force spokesman said Miss Burton arrived in Victoria Sunday and went to visit her uncle and aunt (presumably Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Sim, 1520 Edgeware Road), where she was persuaded to contact the air force.

She did so, and was returned to Sea Island by the RCAF.

"We had a tip she was coming home," said an RCAF spokesman. "Our men interviewed her at the home of her aunt and uncle in Victoria, and she decided it was best to clear up the mystery of her disappearance."

The disclosure that Miss Burton had been found came when Maj. Gen. G. E. Parkes, VC, PC, Esquimalt-Saanich, arose in the Commons in Ottawa to express appreciation "for the thorough and prolonged endeavors of both service and civilian police which had resulted in the recovery of this missing person."

Gen. Parkes told a reporter later that apparently Miss Burton returned to the RCAF of her own accord. He said he believed she had arrived at Victoria by plane from California.

He said he could throw no light on where she had been for the last year and a half and details were not immediately available from the RCAF.

Plane Missing On Mercy Flight

EDMONTON (BUP)—A light plane carrying three persons including a dangerously ill polio patient from Grande Prairie to Edmonton disappeared late Sunday and the RCAF began an around-the-clock search for it.

Ron Murray Missing Near Sooke, 2 Days

By PETE LOUDON

Truckloads of troops and private cars filled with volunteer searchers continued to pour into the Muir River area nine miles west of Sooke this morning, seeking a city hunter now missing almost 48 hours.

But by 3 p.m., discouraged and disconsolate, searchers were beginning to give up hope and straggle out of the woods, with early darkness threatening under a heavy cloud wrack.

They told of fording waist-deep streams, ploughing through underbrush so thick in some places they could not see companions a few yards from them.

It is the greatest search operation in the history of lower Vancouver Island. It is estimated between 1,500 and 2,000 men are plodding shoulder to shoulder through dense, rain-soaked thickets in search of Ronald Murray, 30, of 85 Crease Street. He was last seen by a hunting companion at 1 p.m. Saturday.

At one point during the morning, there was sudden hope that Murray was nearby. Three gunshots were heard at 11:30 in an area about 10 miles north of where the main search was being conducted. Constable P. Humphries led a group into the remote area but returned shortly after 1 this afternoon to announce the shots were fired by other searchers who had become separated from the main group.

Bloodhounds and an army mobile canteen have been moved into the desolate, canyon-split area. So far not a trace of the missing man has been found.

Search is directed by RCMP and South Vancouver Island Rangers, who have been out since early Sunday morning and are still on the job.

WORKMEN HELP
Hundreds of sailors and soldiers joined the hunt this morning. RCMP Sgt. Whittaker said a private plane will join the giant search operation.

A large crew of workers from HMC Dockyard, where the missing man is employed as a boiler-maker, left their machines early this morning to aid in the search.

Queen, Duke Take Off for World Tour
LONDON (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh departed on their globe-circling tour of 14 Commonwealth countries at 9 o'clock (4 p.m. EST) tonight, cheered on by hundreds of spectators gathered at London airport.

Their giant stratosphere "Canopus," which will carry them to Bermuda, via Gander, Newfoundland, became airborne 15 minutes later. They arrived at the airport 20 minutes behind schedule.

Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret and other court intimates were at the airport to bid the royal couple farewell.

Elizabeth wore a pale blue suit and blue hat, the duke a heavy, dark overcoat.

Despite chilly November weather thousands of Londoners had assembled along the streets and cheered the couple as their limousine drove the 16 miles from Buckingham Palace to the airport. Several times they closed in around the car causing the delay.
